The moderator called the conference to order and offered prayer; the Rev. W. A. Trow was elected assistant moderator, the Rev. A. P. Manwell, scribe, and the Rev. A. E. Roraback, assistant scribe. The Rev. J. H. Larson reported for the business committee, recommending that the secretary's report be the last in the order of reports for the afternoon, and that the report on incorporating the conference be deferred until Wednesday morning; the report was adopted; the report of the Church History Society, read by the Rev. J. B. Felt, was adopted: (See Appendix 3.) The report of the Bureau of Pastoral Supply was read by the secretary, the Rev. Ethan Curtis, and was accepted. (See Appendix 4.) The report of the Committee on Evangelism, read by the chairman, Rev. J. C. Whiting, was adopted, its financial recommendation being referred to the Finance Committee. (See Appendix 5.) The report of the Committee on Ministerial Standing was read by the chairman, Rev. E. A. Burnham, D. D. The report was accepted, and ordered to be printed in the minutes to be brought up for action at the next meeting of the conference, the committee being continued. (See Appendix 6.) The report of the Committee on Religious Education was given in two parts; an outline of extension plans was given by the chairman, Prof. H. C. Cooper; the report was accepted, and its recommendations adopted, except the one regarding finances which was referred to the Finance Committee. (See Appendix 7.) The purpose of the exhibit and auxiliary conference, as the second part of the report, was explained by Secretary M. S. Littlefield.

The Secretary's annual report was read by the Rev. W. F. Ireland, and was adopted; it was voted that the Conference express its cordial appreciation of the conscientious, efficient and painstaking labor of Mr. Ireland during the years he has been our Secretary. (See Appendix 8.)

The Rev. Frank J. Goodwin being absent, the Rev. H. A. Stimson addressed the Conference on the subject of the Annuity Plan.

The Moderator announced the Committee on Nominations as follows: Rev. E. A. Burnham, D. D., Rev. A. E. Roraback and S. Cole Fairley.

The meeting then adjourned until the evening session.

TUESDAY EVENING.

The Conference listened to an address by the Rev. Charles R. Brown, D. D., Moderator of the National Council, who spoke on "The Church Four Square." Addresses of welcome were given by the Hon. I. R. Breen, Mayor of Watertown, and the Rev. J. H. Larson. The retiring moderator, the Hon. W. H. Crosby of Buffalo, delivered an address on "Municipal Problems;" the Moderator, the Rev. E. A. George, replied in behalf of the Conference, and the meeting was closed with prayer by the Rev. Nehemiah Boynton, D. D.

WEDNESDAY MORNING

Conference was called to order by the Moderator, and the Committee on Nominations reported as follows: (See Appendix 1.) F. W. Jenkins, Esq., chairman, then reported for the Committee on Incorporation. (See Appendix 2.) It was objected that the Conference was bound by the vote of the 1913 Conference not to proceed in the matter of incorporation until three-fourths of the Churches had approved. The chair ruled that Conference was competent to take any action it pleased in the matter without regard to the vote of the previous year; appeal being made from the ruling, the chair was unanimously sustained.

The Business Committee reported a recommendation that the time for discussion of the matter of incorporation be limited to twenty minutes for each side, and that a vote be taken at 10.15. The recommendation was adopted. After debate, Mr. George W. Baily moved the adoption of the following resolution, and it was unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, That the report of the Committee on Incorporating the Conference be adopted, and that the Nominating Committee of this Conference be directed to nominate at a later business meeting of the present Conference, the fifteen directors to be named in the original articles of incorporation; and be it further

Resolved, That the fifteen persons, or a majority of them, selected by this Conference as directors, shall be and they hereby are authorized and directed to sign and execute any and all necessary papers, and take any and all necessary steps and proceedings to effect incorporation substantially, as outlined in the report of the Committee. That if any person or persons selected as incorporators and Directors shall be unable or unwilling to serve that a majority of the other persons so selected shall be authorized and empowered to fill such vacancies."

A vote of thanks was given to the Committee on Incorporation for their efficient service. It was ordered that "upon the incorporation of the New York State Conference, and the organization of the Board of Directors, the officers of this Conference be and they hereby are authorized and directed to transfer to the officers of said corporation any and all books, records, correspondence and proceedings, together with any and all money, and other property of every name and nature in the possession of, or belonging to this Conference."

An address was then given by the Rev. C. H. Merrill, Secretary of the National Apportionment Commission; and the Rev. Silas E. Persons, D. D. of Cazenovia spoke on "The Regeneration of the Country Districts." The Committee on Nominations made the following nominations for trustees of the Conference; the report was adopted. (See Appendix 1.)

Then followed the devotional hour and Communion service, conducted by the Rev. Livingston L. Taylor assisted by the Rev. H. A. Stimson, D. D.; the assisting deacons were George W. Baily, Guilford Dudley, Joseph C. Batchelor and Harlan P. French.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON

The greater part of this afternoon session was devoted to the meetings of the Woman's Home Missionary Union. (See Appendix 9,) and the New York State Branch of the Woman's Board of Missions; (See Appendix 10.) after which the Conference Essay was given by Prof. Walter Rauschenbusch, of Rochester on "The Social Gospel, and What Is Involved In It."

WEDNESDAY EVENING

This entire session was taken up by the forty-second annual meeting of the New York Home Missionary Society, the Vice-President, Rev. Lewis T. Reed of Brooklyn presiding.

After singing by the choir, the Scripture was read by the Rev. F. W. Herman, of Carthage, and prayer was offered by the Rev. J. C. Whiting, of New York.

The Vice-President, Mr. Reed, presented the annual report of the Board of Trustees and made a statement with regard to the pending changes in the Home Missionary Society to conform with the action incorporating the State Conference. Secretary Chas. W. Shelton spoke on "Items of Interest During 1913 in State Home Missions"; Rev. E. M. Halliday, of Brooklyn, spoke on "The New City Church in the Residential District," and the closing address was given by Rev. B. Frank Tobey, of Danby, on "The Need and Influence of the Rural Church."

After the benediction, the meeting adjourned.

THURSDAY MORNING

After the business hour of the New York State Home Missionary Society, Conference listened to the report of the Committee on Systematic Benevolence, (see Appendix 11,) given by the Chairman, the Rev. L. T. Reed. At his invitation the following named explained their methods of raising money in their Churches: Rev. Paul R. Allen, Rev. J. H. Larson, Mr. J. L. Wells, and Rev. J. H. McKee.

The following resolution was adopted:

Whereas, The National Council unanimously approved of the Annuity Plan for Ministers, so carefully worked out by our National Ministerial Relief Board, and has instructed the Board to put the plan in operation; and

Whereas, The plan is cooperative, affording the ministers of our communion the opportunity to share in making the plan a success, by paying one-fifth of the money necessary to secure certain benefits, while the Church pays four-fifths; and

Whereas, The National Ministerial Relief Society desires and deserves the hearty cooperation of all the States in making the plan effective, be it

Resolved, That the New York State Conference gladly approves of the Annuity Plan and pledges its hearty cooperation with the National Ministerial Relief Society in all possible ways.

That we urge all who possibly can, but especially the younger men in the ministry, who will eventually receive the full benefit, to take out an Annuity certificate, and we urge upon the pastors and officers of our Churches to call to the attention of the Churches the importance of making generous offerings for the cause of Ministerial Relief to provide for our aged missionaries, and to obtain as far as possible special offerings for the Annuity Fund upon which the permanent provision for our ministry depends.

Due notice having been given, it was moved that Article 10 of the constitution be amended so as to increase the per capita assessment to five and one-half cents; the motion was amended to read "to defray the expense of the Conference a per capita assessment shall be levied upon each local association annually." This was adopted.

Mr. J. C. Batchelor read the report of the Finance Committee, which was adopted. (See Appendix 12.)

The Committee on Nominations also made a report, which was adopted. (See Appendix 1.)

For the Committee on Place the Rev. W. F. Kettle reported that invitations had been received from Oswego and from the Flatbush Church, of Brooklyn. The latter invitation was accepted.

Upon motion of Prof. H. C. Cooper, the report of the Committee on Religious Instruction was amended so as to add to the committee a chairman at large to be chosen by the Conference.

The Rev. C. Rexford Raymond then spoke on "Our Opportunities at Chautauqua;" it was ordered that we approve the project to improve our Congregational property at Chautauqua, but without involving any financial obligation, but recommending to our Churches that it be given a place in the benevolence budgets, and Mr. Raymond was requested to represent us at Chautauqua in all matters affecting the denomination.

The Rev. W. H. Tower then addressed the Conference on the work of the American Bible Society. A resolution was adopted expressing special thanks to the Committee on Systematic Benevolence for their efficient service during the past six years.

The Rev. Livingston L. Taylor was unanimously elected Moderator for the next meeting, and the Rev. Willard P. Harmon was unanimously elected to the office of Secretary.

The Treasurer's report was given by Mr. Guilford Dudley; it was accepted and referred to the Auditing Committee, who later reported that they had examined it and found it correct. It was approved. (See Appendix 13.)

The Bureau of Pastoral Supply reported that they had met and organized, reelecting the Rev. Ethan Curtis as secretary, and that the other officers remain the same as last year.

It was moved and unanimously ordered that the decision of last year's Conference requiring a three-fourths favorable vote of the Churches in the matter of incorporation, be rescinded.

The session then adjourned.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON

The session was called to order by Assistant Moderator Trow; prayer was offered by Rev. Inman L. Willcox; the minutes were read by the Scribe and were approved; it was ordered that the Scribe be empowered to complete them, and that at the close of the evening session the Conference stand adjourned. Mr. W. C. Prytherch, of Utica, was unanimously elected Treasurer, and it was ordered that the delegates present from the Oneida, Chenango and Delaware Association be a committee to notify Mr. Prytherch of his election.

On motion of Rev. J. C. Whiting it was ordered that the Committee on Evangelism be increased by the addition (ex-officio) of the Chairman of the Evangelistic Committees of such associations as are not already represented on the Committee elected by the Conference. (See Appendix 5.) There followed a symposium on "The Power of the Church," participated in by the Rev. Messrs. C. R. Raymond, R. B. Tolbert, L. H. Johnston, John R. Gee, A. P. Manwell and A. E. Roraback.

The session closed with prayer and benediction by the Rev. Ethan Curtis.

THURSDAY EVENING

The final session of the Conference was held in the Asbury M. E. Church, Moderator George presiding. For the Committee on Resolutions, the Rev. G. H. Burgess read the following resolutions, which were adopted by general consent: "The Congregational Churches of New York State assembled in this eighty-first Conference desire to record their appreciation of the kind reception accorded them by the citizens of Watertown, the cordial welcome by its Mayor, the generous recognition on the part of the press, the fine fellowship of the sister Churches, and the generous courtesy manifested by the people in opening their homes for the reception of delegates. The Conference especially wishes to express its gratitude to the pastor and people of Emmanuel Church for their cordiality and for their thoughtfulness in planning for and arranging the meetings of the Conference, to the choir which by the beauty of its leadership in the service of song has contributed so much to the spirit of worship in the evening meetings, and to the ladies for their splendid and efficient service in the Church hospitality. The Conference wishes to express its congratulations to Emmanuel Church on its beautiful House of Worship, and the hope for continued blessings on its activities in years to come.

The Conference further expresses its appreciation of the courtesy of the Asbury M. E. Church in giving the use of its spacious and beautiful new building for the final session of the Conference."

Addresses were delivered by Mr. W. H. Anderson, Superintendent of the New York Anti-Saloon League, and by Dr. P. A. Baker, President of the National Anti-Saloon League; the chief address being given by the Hon. Malcomb R. Patterson, former Governor of Tennessee. After the benediction, pronounced by the Rev. J. H. Larson, the eighty-first meeting of the New York State Conference stood adjourned.

A. P. MANWELL, Scribe.

A. E. RORABACK, Asst. Scribe.

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION

CERTIFICATE OF INCORPORATION

NEW YORK CONGREGATIONAL CONFERENCE

The undersigned, all being of full age, citizens of the United States, and residents of the State of New York, for the purpose of incorporating under the Membership Corporation Law of the State of New York, being Chapter 40 of the Laws of 1909 and any and all amendments thereof, do hereby declare as follows:

FIRST: That the particular objects for which this Corporation is formed are—To promote the general interests and agencies of Congregational Churches in New York. To carry on such religious, educational, philanthropic and other work, including the establishing and aiding of Congregational Churches as the Churches may desire to undertake in common, through representation in its body. To acquire, in any and all lawful ways, including by bequest and devise, both personal and real property, and to hold, lease and convey the same. To hold trust funds and such other funds and property as may, from time to time, come into its possession. And to do each and everything necessary or incident to any or all of the foregoing objects, and which are not inconsistent with the Laws of this State, or the principles of Congregationalism and the denominational basis on which it is founded. It shall never exercise any legislative or disciplinary power over the Churches or the Ministers connected with it.

SECOND: That the name by which this Corporation shall be known and designated is and shall be the

"NEW YORK CONGREGATIONAL CONFERENCE"

THIRD: That the territory in which its operations are to be principally conducted is not to be limited to any designated locality, but is to extend throughout the State of New York.

FOURTH: That the location of its principal office has not as yet been determined; it being at present impracticable so to do, but it shall be in the State of New York.

FIFTH: That the duration of this Corporation is to be perpetual.

SIXTH: That the number of its Directors shall be fifteen.

SEVENTH: That the names and places of residence of the persons to be Directors until its first Annual Meeting are

IN WITNESS WHEREOF we have made and signed this Certificate in duplicate, and hereunto set our hands and seals this.... .....day of .....1914.

BY-LAWS
of the
NEW YORK CONGREGATIONAL CONFERENCE

ARTICLE I.

Section 1. The name and objects of this Corporation shall be as stated in the Certificate of Incorporation.

ARTICLE II.

Membership

Section 1. Every Congregational Church in this State, connected with a local Association, shall be entitled to representation in this Conference by its Pastor, and by one delegate to be chosen by such church annually. Delegates shall be members of the Conference from the time of their election until their successors are elected.

Sec. 2. All Congregational Ministers in regular standing in any Congregational Conference or Association in the State shall be members of the Conference.

Sec. 3. All Officers and Directors of the Conference, and all members of Standing Committees shall be members of the Conference during their term of office. Removal from the State shall terminate such membership.

Sec. 4. All persons elected as delegates to the Congregational Conference of New York for the fiscal year 1914 shall be members of this Conference until the election of delegates for the year 1915. All Officers and Committees of the 1914 Conference shall hold office until the Officers and Committees are chosen pursuant to these By-Laws.

Sec. 5. Ordained Ministers and Laymen who may be present at the meetings of this body, may be invited to sit as corresponding members, but may not vote.

ARTICLE III.

Meetings.

Section 1. The Annual Meeting of the Conference shall begin on the third Tuesday of May at such hour and place as may be fixed by the Conference, or in the event of their failing to act, by the Board of Directors.

Sec. 2. The Board of Directors shall have power to change the place of the Annual Meeting, or to call an extra meeting if any exigency shall arise. Notice of such changed or special meeting shall be given by circular letter to the Pastor or Clerk of each Church at least three weeks before the time of meeting.

Sec. 3. A Business Meeting shall be held each forenoon of the Annual Conference, at which time the minutes of the previous meeting shall be read and approved.

Sec. 4. Unless the Annual Conference shall order to the contrary, the election of Officers and Directors shall occur in the forenoon of the second day of the Annual Meeting.

Sec. 5. No member shall speak more than twice on the merits of any question in debate, nor to exceed ten minutes, except by special permission of the Conference.

Sec. 6. Twenty-five members shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business at any regular or special meeting, but a less number may adjourn from time to time.

ARTICLE IV.

Board of Directors.

Section 1. The corporate powers of the Conference shall be vested in a Board of Directors who shall have and exercise the general control and management of its funds and affairs, and shall perform all acts necessary to promote the interests and enhance the welfare of the Conference, not inconsistent with special instructions of the Conference, the Articles of Incorporation, these By-Laws and the Laws of the State.

Sec. 2. The Board of Directors shall consist of fifteen members. Any member of a Congregational Church in the State which is connected with a local Association, twenty-one years of age, is eligible for election to the Board of Directors, or to any office or Committee of the Conference.

Sec. 3. The persons named as Directors in the Articles of Incorporation shall divide themselves by lot into three classes; five of such persons to hold office for one year, or until the next Annual Meeting of the Conference; five to hold office for two years, and five for three years. At the annual meeting to be held in 1915, and at each Annual Meeting thereafter, Directors shall be elected for a term of three years in the place of those whose terms of office then expire, and to fill vacancies that may exist.

Sec. 4. The Board shall have power to fill vacancies in any office, or in its own membership until the next Annual Meeting.

Sec. 5. A majority of the then members of the Board shall constitute a quorum, but a less number may adjourn from time to time.

Sec. 6. No Director shall be eligible for re-election after having served two consecutive terms, until he shall have been out of office at least one year. Election for a portion of a term shall be deemed equivalent to a full term, and no one Church in the State shall have more than two members on the Board at any one time. If two, one shall be a layman. No paid Secretary of any Missionary Society shall be eligible to membership on the Board.

Sec. 7. The Board shall meet as soon as practicable after the Anual Election by the Conference, at a time and place to be fixed by the retiring President of the Board. It shall hold such other meetings as may be called by the President, or by a majority of the Board of Directors in writing. It shall make an annual report to the Conference as required by law.

Sec. 8. The Board shall appoint and fix the salary of a State Superintendent, who shall be their executive representative among all the Churches, but not a member of the Board. His title shall be "Superintendent of the New York Congregational Conference."

ARTICLE V.

Committees.

Section 1. There shall be an executive committee consisting of the President (who shall be Chairman thereof) and at least four other members of the Board of Directors to be appointed by the Board. At least one-third of the Executive Committee shall be laymen. The Executive Committee shall possess, between meetings of the Board, the full power and authority of the Board of Directors; provided, however, it cannot annul or reverse any action taken by the Board. It shall keep a record of all transactions, which shall be read at the next meeting of the Board.

Sec. 2. Business Committee: The Business Committee shall consist of the Moderator and four other persons to be selected by the Board, but not necessarily from the Board; two for one year and two for two years, to be succeeded at the expiration of their term of office by members elected for two years each. There shall be at least two laymen on the Business Committee. The Pastor of the Church with which the annual meeting of the Conference is held shall be an Advisory Member of the Committee for the year preceding said meeting. It shall be the duty of this Committee, unless otherwise ordered by the Board, to prepare a program for each Annual Meeting, and to serve as the Business Committee of such meeting. In case of absence of a member of this Committee, the Moderator shall appoint one to act in his place during his absence. All resolutions shall be referred to, and no business shall be introduced at any meeting of the Conference without the approval of this Committee.

Sec. 3. Nominating Committee: The Nominating Committee shall consist of four persons, two of whom shall be elected at each Annual Meeting for the term of two years; provided that at the first election two shall be elected for a term of one year and two for a term of two years. It shall be the duty of this Committee to make all nominations not otherwise provided for. The report of this Committee shall not be construed to exclude nominations from the floor of the Conference.

Members of the Nominating Committee shall be nominated by a temporary Committee of three, to be named by the Moderator and approved by the Conference.

Sec. 4. The Annual Meeting of the Conference, or the Board of Directors, may appoint such other Committees and Employees, not inconsistent with the Articles of Incorporation and these By-Laws, as may from time to time be deemed proper.

ARTICLE VI.

Officers, Duties of.

Section 1. The Officers of the Conference shall be a Moderator, a President of the Board of Directors, a Secretary, an Assistant Secretary, a Treasurer, a State Superintendent and an Auditor.

The Moderator, Secretary and Assistant Secretary shall be elected annually by ballot.

The Treasurer and Auditor shall be elected annually by ballot on nomination of the Board of Directors.

The State Superintendent shall be appointed by the Board of Directors.

Sec. 2. The Directors shall elect from their own number a President and a Vice-President of the Board. The Secretary and Treasurer of the Conference shall be ex-officio Secretary and Treasurer of the Board.

Sec. 3. The Moderator shall preside at the meetings of the Conference and perform such further and other duties as are indicated by these By-Laws, and as the Conference from time to time may direct.

Sec. 4. The President shall preside at the meetings of the Board of Directors. He shall perform such duties touching the business affairs of the Corporation as are usually incident to the office. In case of the absence or inability of the President to act, his duties shall be performed by the Vice-President. The offices of President and Moderator may be held by the same person.

Sec. 5. The Secretary shall perform the duties usually incident to the office of Secretary, Registrar and Scribe. The Treasurer shall perform the duties usually incident to such office.

Sec. 6. The Superintendent shall be the Executive Representative of the Board of Directors among all the Churches, sharing impartially in the work of the Committees of the Board. It shall be his duty to become broadly informed concerning every phase of work undertaken by the Conference. It shall be his special duty to so organize, direct and co-ordinate all of the work of the Conference that each part may be given its proper importance, and all of the work may be done with the greatest efficiency and economy of time and money. He shall visit and advise with pastorless Churches and shall assist, when requested, with fraternal counsel, a Pastor or Church. He shall make a full report of his administration to the Conference at its Annual Meeting.

Sec. 7. All other Officers, Committees and Employees shall perform such duties as may be required by the Conference or the Board of Directors.

Sec. 8. No officer of the Conference, except as provided in these By-Laws, shall be paid any salary or compensation for his services unless fixed by the Conference at Annual Meeting.

Sec. 9. In event of the absence or inability of any Officer to act, and there being no person present authorized under these By-Laws to act in his place the Conference or Board of Directors may temporarily designate some other person to act in his place and stead.

Sec. 10. Excepting as herein provided, the terms of office of all Officers and Committees shall be for one year, or until the next Annual Meeting of the Conference, and the election of their successors.

ARTICLE VII.

Fiscal Year.

Section 1. The fiscal year of this Conference shall begin on the first day of January in each year.

ARTICLE VIII.

Seal.

Section 1. The Official Seal of the Conference shall be circular in form, containing the following words and figures—"New York Congregational Conference, Incorporated," on the margin, and in the center thereof, the figures showing year of incorporation.

ARTICLE IX.

Amendments.

These By-Laws may be amended at any Annual Meeting of the Conference, by an affirmative vote of two-thirds of the persons enrolled at such Annual session. Provided, however, such proposed amendment must be read at a business session of at least one day preceding such vote, together with notice of time and place of its consideration. The vote shall be taken by roll-call.

REPORT OF THE CHURCH HISTORY SOCIETY.

REV. A. L. GREIN, Secretary.

BRETHREN OF THE CONFERENCE:—

It is now fourteen years since the New York Congregational Church History Society came into existence. It entered the field to gather material of historic interest for the use of the Churches of our order, and also to serve as a depository for all matter pertaining to our Churches that may have a value some day to the historian who shall write the story of the struggle of the Free Churches in the Empire State.

During this period a considerable mass of matter has been gathered and garnered—records of installations and ordinations, anniversary sermons and historical addresses, year books and society pamphlets, as well as Conference records and Associational minutes. This matter is all available to any who may choose to use it. A beginning has been made, but whether the hopes of the founders of this Society have been fully realized is a question.

We are still in the days of small things, but we are growing in wealth of material, which may soon delight the student of research. Already the society has been able to assist a number of pastors in the preparation of historical addresses.

Our greatest need at present is for a more vital interest on the part of the Churches in gathering historical data of value in every part of the State. Your Secretary would earnestly request the pastors to have this society in mind throughout the year. It is a creature of your own making. It thrives as you will. It ought to appeal to every member of this Conference without the need of any outward stimulus. It has a mission for posterity. There are Churches now reaching the century mark. We would ask that copies of all research work connected with the centennial celebrations of these Churches be forwarded to the society to be filed away in the archives and we would also ask the Churches that are less ancient to remember that year books with historical data should always be sent in. We would ask you to do this for your own sakes. It is an interesting fact that the receipts of matter by the society from the different parts of our State furnish an index of the life conditions of our Churches—where the Churches are vigorous there is a response to our call—where moribund, no response. Brethren, let us all be alive.

In closing, let me add that in the parish of Coates, in Gloucestershire, England, a tiny stream may be seen — an insignificant thing, but it flows on seeking its level. As it meanders toward the sea other waters merge with it until the Thames, broad and deep, carries on its bosom, the commerce of nations. We are still in the rivulet stage in our society, but brethren, let the streams from every part of our State flow our way and soon there will be a History Society in this State which will be an honor to the State and a delight to us all.

Respectfully submitted,

ALBERT L. GREIN, Secretary.

REPORT OF THE BUREAU OF PASTORAL SUPPLY.

REV. ETHAN CURTIS, Secretary.

The Trustees of the Bureau of Pastoral Supply present the following annual report of its work:

Fifty-five Churches in the Empire State have been without pastors at some time during the year. Of this number forty-four have sought the assistance of our Bureau in obtaining a minister. Forty-one have secured pastors in the twelve months. Thirty-one of these Churches have accepted ministers recommended by the Bureau. Some of these are among the larger Churches of the State, but the majority are of the medium or smaller ones. Anew we are impressed with the fact that persons, and especially ministers living outside our State, have a wrong impression in regard to the Churches of this State. The large Churches of Brooklyn and New York city, and of other cities and a few of the large towns of the State seem to give the impression that Churches of considerable size are abundant among us. Whereas 151 of our 297 Churches in the State, or more than one-half of them, have a membership of less than 100 persons. This fact is of special interest to our Bureau, because the smaller the Church the more difficult it is for it to find a satisfactory minister.

When a large Church becomes pastorless, the pulpit committee is flooded with applications. A Church of this class, looking for a pastor recently had fifty applications for its vacant pulpit. To have heard fifty candidates would have consumed more than a year of time and brought much confusion to the minds of the congregation and seriously halted the progress of the Church. In this case, probably not more than five candidates were heard and finally choice was made between two, and the one selected was the one recommended by our Bureau. A small Church, perhaps at a distance from the railroad, with people of education and refinement as its leaders, and who are in touch with the better thought and life of our day, require an abler minister than can be easily obtained. The salary of such Church is seldom more than $600 and parsonage.

A hopeful feature of the year, as we shall see later, is that several such Churches, by special effort, have increased the salary and so obtained the pastor they desired. This year we have had an increasing sense of the value of personal visits to pastorless Churches and especially of the conference on securing a pastor, held in connection therewith. This conference usually follows the morning Church service, and all are invited to remain to it who are interested in the future of the Church. Usually from 20 to 50 persons remain, according to the size of the Church. Many questions are asked, difficulties are frankly discussed—an open expression is sought as to salary; cost of living; condition of the parsonage; the necessity of keeping a horse, if a country charge, and any other matter of interest. In every case the members of the conference are encouraged to state what kind of a minister the church needs. If the salary is small, the difficulty of securing a satisfactory minister on the proposed salary is plainly stated, and the question raised, could not the amount be increased?

Twenty-four such visitations and conferences have taken place during the year. Now four results have followed: (1) An accurate knowledge of the conditions and needs of the Church thus visited; (2) the Church itself comes to share with the Bureau the responsibility of securing the right minister more fully, because it understands the problem better. (3) In several cases a spontaneous effort to increase the salary has sprung up with the result that the Church has pledged from one to three hundred dollars more than in recent years. (4) Another result has often followed, which is very unusual. Of the 31 Churches that have secured pastors through the Bureau during the year, 17 or more than half, called the first candidate heard and did not care to look further. So unusual is it that a Church does not hear a number of candidates, and sometimes so many as to be quite confused as to their respective merits, that the record of the year is quite remarkable. In one case of exceptionally rapid movement, in two weeks after our Secretary had visited the Church and recommended a candidate, that candidate had been heard on two Sabbaths, had been called; had accepted the call and had begun his pastorate. All this took place in fourteen days and the Church seems increasingly satisfied with the action taken and the choice made.

Perhaps the Bureau should share with the State Conference the unsolicited testimony as to work being done by some of the ministers secured through our Bureau. It should be borne in mind that the ultimate aim of our labors is not merely to find ministers for Churches, or Churches for ministers, but that the ministers found should do such good work in their respective Churches that both Churches and ministers should enter upon larger things. We wish that this might be true in every case. These letters were written without our knowledge until received. The first letter is from a leading man in our Church, in one of the newer cities of the State: "I thought we ought to write and let you know how things are with our Church, since our pastor came to us at your suggestion. As evidence of how we like him and have liked him from the first we agreed to pay him $1100 the first year, but before he had been here two months, the trustees voted to increase his salary to $1200.—and at the annual meeting, last Wednesday evening, he was unanimously voted an increase of another hundred for the ensuing year. We think there is almost no minister like him. He has quickened all lines of Church work and is liked by everybody and preaches every Sunday some of the most inspiring, interesting, logical, spiritual, and helpful sermons we have ever listened to. In fact we doubt if many of the Churches in the larger cities are being better served than we are."

The second letter concerns a Church of less than 50 members, located at a distance from the railroad and in a rural community of about 300 population. The Clerk of the Church, writing of the favorable beginning of the new pastorate, says: "We are very thankful to you and hope our new Pastor's work here will build up and reunite our Church. This is a crisis with the Church and we need a good man if ever a society did." The last resident minister had done much harm by his habit of fault-finding and criticism. Well, the new minister, wise and warm-hearted, "the good man" needed, with a keen appreciation for every blade of grass, both material and human, began his work in that small and discouraged Church. And his wife was like unto him in spirit.

These two servants of the Lord Jesus went about kindling fires of brotherly love and of spiritual warmth, of courage and of hopefulness, and soon it could be said, as in Solomon's song, "Lo, the winter is past, the rain is over and gone; the flowers appear on the earth and the time of singing birds is come." To borrow the title of the Rev. Russell Conwell's well known lecture, this minister and his wife found "Acres of Diamonds" in this small, rural parish. The diamonds were the men and women, mostly farmer folk, and the boys and girls and little children, coming from the scattered homes far across the fields to the warmth and good cheer that filled the Church and was more and more filling the whole town. This pastor publishes, monthly, a small Church paper, neatly printed, and on good material, and which is so full of bright, helpful thoughts, and of kindly mention of persons and things in the Church and in the community that this little paper must be a very welcome visitor to every home or to friends far away. Our Bureau receives letters from time to time from ministers saying that they wish to be introduced to a Church where there is an opportunity. This minister, without asking for it, was introduced to a Church where there was an opportunity.

We give but one more quotation from letters and this for the important statement made in it. This Church is seven miles from the railroad and has a struggle to live: "It is a comfort," says the writer, "to have you looking after our affairs so promptly and with so much interest. You are doing a fine service, not only to individual churches, but to the denomination, in looking after such small places as this. It is harder for us to help ourselves and the help we give to larger Churches through the people who go away from us, makes us weaker. If the country Churches go down, the city Churches will lose many of the good workers and supporters, country trained."

In this restless age, there is one hurtful tendency that our Bureau does all it can to combat and that is the tendency to very short pastorates. There are a few ministers in our State, mostly men with small educational equipment, who seem to think that six months or a year, or slightly more, in one Church, is quite a long pastorate. During this year, one young man, after spending three months in a Church, and another after a four months' pastorate, wished to go to other fields and claimed that they were worthy of promotion. Now this tendency to move in and out of Churches in a brief time, is not only contrary to the tradition and spirit of Congregationalism, but is hurtful alike to the minister and to the Church. No minister can plan or do anything but hasty and superficial work in a Church in one year. And it will be found in every case that where one of our ministers has risen to prominence as a pastor, his pastorates have been several years in duration.

So our Bureau strongly advises that when a minister has sought and obtained the pastorate of a Church and that Church has called him, that he ought to remain long enough with the Church to do a work that is worth while and long enough to show what he can do in building up the Kingdom of God in that parish.

Calling attention now to the work of the office, we must state that this has been heavier than usual this year. This was due in part to the sending out of 400 blanks to obtain ministerial or Church records, each accompanied with a note of explanation. In the year 1420 letters have been written and 1540 received. Two hundred and fifty interviews have been held with Church committees or ministers. Supplies for pulpits have been furnished on fifty occasions. Twenty-two ministers have registered with the Bureau during the year. Seven ministers and laymen have made contributions to the postage account in return for the services of the Bureau. The sphere of our activity has been somewhat enlarged this year. Our assistance has been sought by a Christian Church in finding a minister for it, and our effort proved successful. We have aided two of our Churches in Pennsylvania in obtaining pastors. Recently we were appealed to to do a like service for a Presbyterian Church. In one parish our Secretary accepted the request to visit several disaffected families in an effort to win them back to the Church; in another parish, where there was only a morning service, he spent three Sabbath afternoons in going about with horse and carriage and calling on the sick, the aged and the shut-ins.

Right away after the last annual meeting, we were enabled, by means of the increased appropriation, to issue our two important, new blanks—the one for the records of Churches, and the other for the records of ministers. These were sent to pastors and Churches generally. A large number of these blanks were filled out and returned to the Bureau. Some Churches did not realize the importance of having the record on file in our office, or laid the blank aside until some more convenient time and so did not return it at all. Some ministers thought our purpose was to introduce them at once to some other Church and if they did not wish this step taken, they did not return the blank. The result of our effort thus far is to add 220 records to the already large file of 400 records in the Bureau office. These new blanks furnish up-to-date information and are quite full of helpful data. They greatly add to the equipment of the office in one direction. The office was specially deficient in records of Churches, having no more than twenty-five, and some of these quite old ones. We have added this year to those already in the office, 100 new records of Churches. How these records aid us in our work is easy to be seen. The pulpit of one of these Churches becomes vacant, and there is a possible candidate in view, but before visiting the Church, he wishes to ask questions not answered by the Year Book, as for example:

What other Churches are in the place? Is the parsonage old or new, and in good repair? What work is the Church doing among young people and adults? How often is the salary paid and is it paid promptly? What are the arrangements for music in the Church? And other like questions.

Now the records in our office enable us to answer these inquiries at once and without writing numerous letters for information. The same help is found in our ministerial records. Not a week passes that we do not send out these blanks to be filled, or consult those already filled out to answer intelligently letters of inquiry. It would greatly facilitate the work of the Bureau if we could have in our office the records of all Churches and ministers in the State. If any have the blanks and have not returned them, the Bureau would deem it a favor if it could receive them filled out. Blanks can be had on request at any time.

In closing this report we quote from a letter of a minister of prominence in a Western State, who has recently come to reside in New York. Writing to us about the work of the Bureau, he says: "A State with pulpits so fully filled is an anomaly in Congregationalism, the like of which I have never before witnessed. It certainly never occurred in Nebraska all the time I was on the Board of Home Missions there. I hope it will continue as it is an ideal situation."

Upon these appreciative words of our correspondent we make the following comment: There is a curious sameness in the number of Churches that become pastorless in the Empire State year after year. Notice the figures: In 1912 it was 63; in 1913, 68; in 1914, 55. These figures show that on an average one-fifth of the Churches of the state become pastorless every year, and from them two inferences may be drawn: First, there will always be work for a Bureau of Pastoral Supply to do; and, secondly, the number of vacancies is at the close of this year the smallest in a number of years, as a result of the faithful work of our Bureau.

Appendix 5

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON EVANGELISM.

REV. JOHN C. WHITING, Chairman

Limited by the absence of any appropriation for postage or printing, your committee has nevertheless obtained valuable reports from the Churches, encouragements and suggestions. We hope we have found, also, some basis for increased efficiency in aggressive work in future under the head of Evangelism.

Correspondence following an October meeting of Committee, various conferences, visits and studies on behalf of this important work, and a questionnaire sent to all the pastors in the state, have brought the matter of sane, modern evangelism keenly before us, with new incentives and new vision.

Helpful stimulus and suggestions have come to many pastors through District conferences held by suggestion of the National Council's Commission on Evangelism.

We rejoice in the good work of religious education, in the wide observance of Decision Day and the holding of Pastors' classes, especially during the Lenten season, and we desire effective cooperation with the Committee on Religious Education.

No one can afford to overlook the great opportunities for social service now so generally appealing to our Churches, nor to disparage the regular, faithful efforts of the devoted ministers in the many channels of our modern forms of activity. But our privilege extends far beyond these more familiar methods, and your committee feels charged, in cooperation with these other agencies of the Church, to stir up and to help the pastors and Churches in the definite extension of the kingdom among the unconverted.

It is not necessary to debate the deficiencies of old methods, which have brought the very name of evangelism into disfavor, but we conceive it a vital duty of Conference, through emphasis upon this subject, to urge upon our Churches the rational, enthusiastic, joyous presentation of the claims of Christ in the matter of personal allegiance to Him. With all that is new, in viewpoint, method and spirit, these days of opportunity should reveal to us a new evangelism and find us fired with zeal to promote it.

In reply to questions as to so-called "revival meetings," your committee learns that in one Church where meetings were held by a lady evangelist, the results were good, but the advice to the committee from the pastor is, "go cautiously."

Another minister reports union services in a specially-built tabernacle, with an evangelist preaching six weeks and some 400 converts. "A good thing to do," writes the pastor, "about once in 25 years."

Yet many Churches reporting "no," or "nothing done," in answer to our questions as to efforts made, give striking evidence of the result when they report "no additions"—"only one new member," or so few as to indicate little if any progress.

We find that many Churches have engaged in active campaigns during the past year; some with visiting evangelists; some uniting in union services; others by pastoral exchange.

In nearly every case, however, where successful efforts were made, it was under the leadership of the faithful minister, whose message, laden with the love of men, was brought by special, aggressive methods to new hearers in his own community.

Most fruitful of the methods employed appears to be the "win one more" fellowship suggested by Dr. Conrad, of the National Council's Commission. This plan "takes," for it is simple and popular and we recommend it as adaptable to any field. For instance, one of our pastors has rechristened it the "One Plus One Band," and employs a promise card which is here appended:

ONE PLUS ONE BAND

I HEREBY SOLEMNLY PROMISE

That I will earnestly endeavor this year to bring at least one person into the Christian life and into membership with the church.

That I will give the minister the names of those for whom I am working.

That I will meet if possible, with the members of this band a few minutes after the Sunday evening and mid-week services.

Date ..... Signed .....

Please Sign This Card and Hand to The Pastor

While it is doubtless unnecessary to urge our pastors to keep dominant in their preaching the note of direct appeal for the acceptance of the Christ-directed life, we would urge the increasing use of laymen in personal work, training them by conference and special instruction to engage in leading individuals to the Master and to unite with His Church.

Excellent results have come from special periods of week-night services, neighboring pastors cooperating, or pastors of other Churches preaching as evangelists.

The Committee on Evangelism should promote this method by offering to aid Churches asking for help of this kind, and to receive the names of pastors and laymen who will volunteer to speak in campaigns in other Churches.

We suggest that the Committee on Evangelism should include one representative from each association, who will endeavor to keep the subject to the front in the local bodies, especially by finding a place for evangelism on the programs and by arranging special conferences in connection with association meetings.

We are pleased to see the provision for this important theme upon the program of this conference and in the form suggested by this Committee.

Members of committee in the local associations might urge the maintaining of a similar committee in each of these bodies, they in turn proposing an evangelistic committee in each Church.

A system of visits to small or pastorless Churches, in cooperation with the Home Missionary Society, to stimulate and encourage those in need of help, has been studied by our committee, and can be developed to great advantage.

In the words of one pastor reporting we would say to every Church: "Start something going," and to use the phrase of another, let us maintain "patient, persistent, pastoral evangelism."

We earnestly request an appropriation of say twenty-five dollars for the expenses of the committee, which shall succeed us in this work.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN C. WHITING, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON MINISTERIAL STANDING.

REV. E. A. BURNHAM, D. D., Chairman.

The committee appointed at the last annual meeting, held in Utica, to suggest plans for uniformity in ministerial standing for our order in New York State, respectfully presents the following report, without attempting to take the Conference's time in a recapitulation of the reasons underlying the same.

1. Entrance Into The Ministry.

Ordination is a prime requisite for full and regular standing in the Congregational ministry.

Licensure.

Licensure to preach and to conduct such ministrations in a parish as come within our ecclesiastical usage may be granted to persons who are in active preparation for ordination. It is the custom of our order, moreover, that no unordained person shall undertake charge of a pulpit or parish who is not so licensed, at least, and it is earnestly suggested to our several associations that they urge upon the Churches by formal action that they, the Churches, shall not enlist the services of any unordained person who has not been so licensed. Such a practise will both safeguard and be a means for promoting the best interests and work of all concerned.

Licensure for a definite and limited period of time may be granted and a certificate issued to that effect by the local association, upon such examination as it deems necessary. One of the credentials deemed necessary to the granting of a license shall be a certificate from the State Committee on Ministerial Standing, to be hereinafter provided for, stating that in its judgment the candidate has reached the point in technical training which entitles him to this recognition. Associations in the state are earnestly urged to vote that no licensure shall be granted without such a certificate.

Licensure is to be granted with the expectation also that full preparation for ordination will be carried forward actively by the licentiate.

The certificate of licensure should state that the license granted thus carries with it the right to have charge of the spiritual affairs of a Congregational Church for the period of the licensure. (See note).

NOTE. This would insure that marriage ceremonies performed by the licentiate would be legal. The Third Assistant Corporation Counsel for the City of Syracuse so declares after a study of the state laws of 1913. This also would give him temporarily the right to administer the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper in case, as is our custom, a fully ordained minister was not available for the service.

Licensure may be renewed if deemed advisable upon renewal of the recommendation of the State Committee on Ministerial Standing and such further examination of the candidate as may be thought to be necessary by the association. Associations might well devise plans whereby permission to occupy a pulpit, pending examination by the State Committee on Ministerial Standing, can be given.

A certificate of licensure should not be a valid credential for ordination in any association that did not issue the same. Local associations are asked to put themselves on record in confirmation of this.

The State Committee on Ministerial Standing.

A State Committee on Ministerial Standing consisting of five (5) ministers in full and regular standing, the majority of this Committee to be alumni of some one of our theological seminaries, shall be elected to carry out the provisions with reference to licensure and ordination heretofore and hereinafter described in this report. Its members shall serve for periods of five years each and one shall be elected annually, except that the entire committee shall be elected at this meeting, its members to serve for one, two, three, four and five years respectively. This Committee shall have power to fill vacancies in its membership occurring between conferences, the same to be in effect until the next regular conference. (It is contemplated that at the first this committee shall meet at the same time and place as the State Conference does.)

It is desirable that a probationary period be passed as licentiate before a candidate seeks ordination.

Ordination.

A candidate may be ordained to the full ministry of the Congregational Churches where the following qualifications are found:

1. Spiritual and Moral.

The candidate should be recognized as of thorough consecration to his Lord, with definite religious experience and clear convictions. He should withal have a strong purpose to carry on the work of Christ as one called to the Christian ministry.

Not only should he be above reproach morally, but there should be evident in him a high moral purpose together with a keen and good moral judgment seasoned with discretion.

These qualities should be thoroughly and clearly recognized since they are the indispensable and first requisites for ordination.

2. Native Fitness.

It is desirable also that there shall be real fitness for the work of the ministry in a native endowment and temperament of the candidate. He should be qualified as well by taste and desire as by training and discipline.

3. Intellectual and Technical.

A candidate for ordination should expect to present satisfactory evidence of a college and theological seminary training, i. e. the degree of B. D., or its equivalent and the degree of A. B., or its equivalent. Further he ought at least to be acquainted with the theory of the work of the ministry, the more experience which he has had with actual Christian work the better. It would be well to have ordination based on evidence of actual efficiency as shown in work during such a probationary period of licensure as has already been mentioned, as well as upon technical and theoretical training.

He should be required to know and be in hearty sympathy with the genius, ideals and history of the Congregational denomination and all its denominational agencies, together with its methods and polity. In a word he should be well informed about and in love with the Congregational way of engaging in the work of the Kingdom.

There are exceptional cases among candidates for ordination who have unusual qualifications for ministerial activities, but who lack the training of either seminary or college, or sometimes of both. It should be realized that such exceptions are very rare and that the burden of proof that he is the worthy exception lies upon the candidate, but where it is clearly evident that it would be a mistake to withhold ordination, ordination may be granted to such persons when, in a manner satisfactory to the State Committee on Ministerial Standing, they have completed a course of preparation as full as possible and as nearly duplicating the preparations gained in the regular channels as may be possible.

This extraordinary preparation may be had either:—

a. Under the supervision of some seminary, or

b. By a correspondence course from some one of our reputable seminaries, the results of which shall be submitted to the Committee on Ministerial Standing, or

c. In a course of training directly outlined and its work supervised by the Committee on Ministerial Standing (as is done in the state of Michigan.)

Upon evidence of satisfactory, intellectual and technical training, or upon completion of such work under the above heads of a. b. c., the Committee on Ministerial Standing may issue a certificate to the effect that the candidate is entitled to ordination. This can be a guide and credential for the local associaion, as is the certificate in regard to fitness for licensure, and with it in hand it may safely proceed to ordain the candidate.

Associations are urged to follow the recommendation of the National Council held at Cleveland, that they assume the function of ordination, to adopt this plan of procedure by formal action and act upon it. They are also hereby asked to urge the individual Churches to adopt the practise of ordaining through them rather than by calling special ordaining councils.

A candidate for ordination without the degrees of A. B. and B. D. or their equivalents should not expect to be able to spend less time and do less work in preparation than those who have come through the regular channels of preparation and supervision. In the nature of the case he should anticipate harder and longer effort.

A candidate for ordination should be a member of a Congregational Church.

The Conference could aid its members by establishing a circulating library and by suggesting courses of study and also by providing opportunities for observing and studying Christian work in operation.

2. Maintenance of Ministerial Standing.

The credentials of a fully ordained minister are vouched for by the local association of which he is a member. The local Church does not and cannot give a Congregational minister his standing.

A minister removing from the limits of one association to another within the state or who comes into or goes out of the state should transfer his membership within two years' time at least, under ordinary circumstances.

Local Associations are urged to vote the following addition to their by-laws:

First: Any Minister departing from this Association and taking up his work in another Association, is required to take his letter to the Association within which he works. If he does not do so within two years his name shall be dropped from the roll.

Second: All Ministers, who have permanently retired from the Ministry and are engaged in business, shall be dropped from the roll. This Association can no longer be responsible for, nor vouch for, such persons.

Third: The active membership of our Association shall consist, first, of superannuated, or retired pastors; second, missionaries on the home or foreign fields in active service, or superannuated. Third, ministers in regular service over Churches connected with the Association. Fourth, Ministers who are temporarily residing within the limits of the Association. Fifth, Secretaries of benevolent societies and professors engaged in educational work.

3. Relationship to the Churches.

Local Associations are urged to press upon their members and the Churches, the importance of Installation, or at least, Recognition, of their ministers as duly set to serve them and to urge them to establish this relationship. This tends to safety, stability, dignity, unity and efficiency, while, at the same time preserving our order in its high traditions.

Installation should be accomplished through the local Associations also. Those Associations that have not already done so, are hereby urged to formally assume by vote the function of Installation and Recognition and to seek to have the Churches avail themselves of those services, according to the recommendation of the National Council, rather than call a special Council. No one should be installed or recognized as pastor of a Church who is not a member of the Congregational denomination. Nor should one be made a member of an Association who is not fully acquainted with Congregational ideals, history and polity and in hearty sympathy with the same.

No minister of another denomination should expect to administer the affairs of a Congregational Church without becoming a member of our denomination and our Churches are asked to cooperate so that this principle can be carried out.

A candidate for Installation or Recognition, or indeed a minister who proposes to assume the pastorate of a Congregational Church, without Installation or Recognition, should be both a member of a Congregational Church and of the denomination through membership in the Association in which his work lies.

Recognition, as well as Installation proceedings should require from the prospective minister a careful statement of his religious experience, theological beliefs and ideals and from the Church an authoritative statement of its purpose in work and attitude towards the minister.

No relationship between pastor and people should be assumed under any circumstances without such mutual understanding.

Either Installation, which is preferable, or Recognition services should be the invariable practice with our Churches and ministers in the state. This would make much for efficiency and dignity in the relationship between pastor and people, for the self respect and confidence of both, and be a great advantage in the estimation of the community.

Ordination in other denominations should be carefully inquired into and satisfactory evidence should be had that such ordination represents nothing less than an equivalent of Congregational ordination, before such a candidate should be installed or recognized as minister in charge of a Congregational Church, or received into membership in a local Association, which thereby assumes the responsibility and vouches for him that he is a minister in full, good and regular standing in the denomination.

The Committee hopes that all the Associations of the State will see fit to adopt these requests, suggestions and recommendations.

In the interests of national uniformity in the matter of Ministerial Standing, it recommends that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Secretary of the National Council with the request that an effort be made at its next session looking toward uniformity of practice throughout the country.

The Committee respectfully presents this report in the hope that these suggestions and recommendations may unify our practice in New York State in regard to Ministerial Standing and so maintain the character, achievement and work of our ministry and our Churches at the very high level to which our ideals for efficiency in the Master's service call us.

With the understanding that it was only appointed to draw up these recommendations, it asks to be discharged with this, their presentation.

Respectfully submitted,

EDWARD A. BURNHAM,
JAMES F. HALLIDAY,
CHARLES E. JEFFERSON.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

PROF. H. C. COOPER, Chairman

This Committee met in New York City in November, as guests of the District Secretary of the Sunday School and Publishing Society. The Chairman has held several conferences with the Secretaries of the Society. Both the Chairman and the District Secretary have carried on an extensive correspondence with various parts of the state.

The general policy of this Committee is working itself out as follows: 1. To assist in accomplishing the plans of the National Council Commission on Education. 2. To cooperate with the district work of the Sunday School Society and with the state officers of the international organization. 3. To coordinate, inspire and advise the local associations. 4. To bring about a real improvement in the educational work of the individual Churches of our order. This is a work that demands far-sighted, enlightened and tireless leadership.

The exhibit and institute conferences held in connection with the present meetings are intended to serve not only for the exchange of the best ideas in religious education, but also as models for the subsequent meetings of the local associations. They also indicate what it is possible to do in the way of institutes and advisory meetings in the home Churches and groups of Churches. One or more experts and much illustrative material will be constantly available for such work. Here we have a direct service of the most practical sort.

We realize that such a campaign of inspiration and instruction will result in an increased demand for trained teachers. Only 12% of the schools now have training classes. This Committee must be prepared to foster teacher training in a practical manner.

The service which our colleges can render in equipping their graduates for leadership in religious education is still underestimated and needs to be stimulated.

The data collected by the District Secretary during the year show that in New York State, over sixty per cent. of the Sunday Schools are now using graded lessons. This means that the majority of Churches approve the idea of graded instruction.

The most regrettable item in the collection of data is that only four per cent. of the pupils appear to have joined the Church. The possibility of evangelistic defects in the lesson material is being considered by the National Commission, but the main responsibility is on the parents, pastors and teachers to whom the nurture of the youth is intrusted. The Committee realizes the necessity of making the strongest possible appeal to the pastors here assembled to take the lead in enlightened evangelism. Two conferences have been arranged with this in view.

We would also magnify the claims of the teaching aspect of the Christian ministry and remind ministers of the educational opportunities open to them in view of the fact that in many cases they are the only persons in the Churches fitted to assume educational leadership.

Your Committee respectfully recommends:

(1) That the scope of the work of this Committee be made to correspond with that of the National Council Commission on Religious and Moral Education and that the title of the committee be correspondingly changed.

(2) That the Committee consist of the Chairmen of the local association committees on Religious Education, the district secretary of the C. S. S. & P. Society (and a chairman at large to be chosen by the State Conference.)

(3) That the committee be instructed to continue its work in arranging conferences in the local associations and Churches.

(4) That the committee assist in acquiring more specific information regarding the educational conditions in the Churches.

(5) That the committee canvass the colleges of the state to see what work is being offered in preparation for service in religious and moral education.

(6) That side conferences for the exchange of educational ideas be authorized as a regular feature of the state conference.

(7) That the appropriation of twenty-five dollars be continued.

(8) That a place on the conference program be given to religious education aside from the time for committee reports.

Signed

THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE SECRETARY.

REV. WM. F. IRELAND.

Last February, Dr. H. K. Carroll, the indefatigable church statistician, sent out his official figures for the year 1913, showing a net increase of 400,000 members in the Protestant Churches of the United States. Some of us were wondering how New York State Congregationalism would show up, when its figures were counted, and have looked forward with interest to the issuing of the statistical tables that we may know what progress has been made since the last count was rendered. This paper is a study of the advance sheets of those tables.

We are not a large denomination, and our figures are not startlingly large. In Dr. Carroll's list Congregationalism stands eighth. In the Northern N. Y. Methodist Episcopal Conference, comprising this and adjacent counties, there are almost as many Sunday School members as in our entire State Conference. Long ago it was said of a small Syrian village:

> "But thou, Bethlehem, in the land of Judah, art not the least among the princes of Judah, for out of thee shall One come forth unto me that is to be ruler in Israel."

And we, looking at our denomination, believe that God is calling out of it that which with aggressiveness and power is to give itself to bring about the redemptive plans of God.

Our roll of churches numbers this year 302; five more than last year; five have been restored to the roll. Two of them, Lincklaen and Moira, had been dropped several years ago. Of the others, Floyd and Union Valley are still remiss in sending in any report, but Eaton sends in a good report showing 72 members. It is served by the recently ordained Rev. James Garfield Jenkins. One new church appears in the tables, with a membership of 68; Forest Hills Gardens, of the Borough of Queens, New York City, served by the Rev. Dr. Robert J. Kent, for twenty-five years the honored pastor of Lewis Avenue Church, Brooklyn. One Church has been dropped; DePeyster, of the Black River and St. Lawrence Association. Its building has been sold and its membership of eleven disbanded. The Lakewood Church, of the Western New York Association, is still retained in the tables, as it has not been officially dropped from the Association roll; but it has become a Methodist Church. An unfortunate pastorate resulted in doing much damage, and as a consequence, the Church was closed for a season, and when opened the change in denomination was made.

285 of the 302 Churches sent in reports more or less complete; of those not reporting six have not been heard from in two or more years. Every effort was made to get a complete response this year, four separate calls going out as needed. As usual, several reports came in after the summaries had been made, one of these preceded by this hasty postal written by the pastor on February 21st, in response to the fourth call: "Letter received. Will jog my church clerk. Don't let the thing go to press until you hear from him. I will get after him at once. If he still delays, jar me again." If this brother could appreciate the amount of work caused by inserting these tardy reports into the records after the summaries have been made, he would get after his clerk several weeks earlier. No secretary can be required to go to this additional toil, and while it was done in every case, still 17 Churches (the same number as last year) appear in the tables without any report of their work for the year. One clerk, sending in his report, requests that next time the secretary send return postage—and you wonder whether it is not worth a two-cent stamp plus a little hustle to get a record of the year's work before the world!

We come to the figures, and begin with the Sunday School. Here we find an increase over last year of 1,608 members, giving a total of 44,507. Our high-water mark in Sunday School figures was reached ten years ago, when we had 52,602 members. For several years there was a decrease, falling three years ago to 41,253. The steady rise since then is we trust something permanent. The Sunday School connected with the Port Chester Church has been discontinued during the year.

In the membership of Christian Endeavor Societies we also find an increase, the figures, 8,022, exceeding those of last year by 792. It was in the year 1902 when was recorded the highest Christian Endeavor figures, namely, 12,313. The twelve years since then have had an average membership of 8,265—243 more than that of the present year.

Reports of Men's Organizations have been made for a period of only four years. The first report showed a membership of 4,063 —this has increased year by year until it now numbers 6,875, a 60% increase in the four years—a record which would indicate large possibilities awaiting development.

In benevolence, I say but little in regard to our gifts to the National Societies, as an hour is to be devoted to that phase of our work, to-morrow. But note the proportionately large gifts recorded under "other Congregational Benevolence," amounting to $68,719, an increase of $17,934 over last year's figures, and within about $10,000 of that given to the National Societies.

The amount given to undenominational causes is $79,143. A sum larger than that given to the National societies. This may easily be a disturbing fact if we do not recall the great agencies for Kingdom Building, which must work outside denominational lines. Among such for example are the Anti-Saloon League and the Undenominational Colleges.

It cost more to run our Churches last year than it ever has before. The item "Home Expenses," reported by 254 Churches totals $1,057,685. Last year 244 Churches reported this item, giving the total of $775,573. 270 Churches report value of property, and here, as usual, are indications of increasing effectiveness in Church plants. For example, Parkville, Brooklyn, has expended $17,000 in the erection of a parish house. The value of property reaches this year $7,721,575, not only the largest figure reported for this item, but more than a million dollars in excess of what was reported five years ago. In addition to this 92 Churches report invested funds aggregating $463,685. On the other hand, 87 Churches report debts amounting to $531,721, or 6 1-2% of the combined value of church property and invested funds.

251 Churches report salary paid to the minister, a total of $301,504. This is an average, in round numbers, of $1200, but analyze the figures and we discover these facts:

52 Churches (20% of those reporting) pay $500. or less.

52 Churches (20% of those reporting) pay from $501. to $750.

56 Churches (22% of those reporting) pay from $751. to $1000.

51 Churches (20% of those reporting) pay from $1001. to $1500.

15 Churches (6% of those reporting) pay from $1501. to $2000.

10 Churches (4% of those reporting) pay from $2001. to $2500.

6 Churches (2% of those reporting) pay from $2501. to $4000.

9 Churches (4% of those reporting) pay over $4000.

These figures are somewhat changed when you take into account those churches yoked with some other in the support of the minister. Of the 39 Churches thus yoked 27 fall among those which pay less than $500. But two pair of these in their combined effort to raise the salary, are not bringing it up to the $500 mark, while eight more Churches are yoked with one of some other denomination, hence the data are not at hand to know what the combined salary amounts to. We only know that each of these eight raises from $100 to $450 for preaching. One Church, with 12 members, and a Sunday School of 30, whose report is full enough to show that it is alive and doing business, has a pastor, pays him $100 without parsonage, and is not yoked with any other Church in the support of their minister. How does he live?

I now bring you to the Church-membership figures, where we can report a net increase, giving us the high-water mark in the history of New York State Congregationalism; the figures stand at 58,818. The losses were heavy, especially by revision; but losses by revision are never discouraging; thereby we come nearer to rock bottom facts; in view of these large reductions a net increase is gratifying. We received on confession 2,513, an amount exceeded but once, in 1907, when 2,632 were reecived on confession. We received by letter 2,019, giving us a total of 4,532 additions, the largest accession to the roll in any year in our history as far back as I have traced the figures. Analyzing these additions we make some interesting deductions:

60 Churches made a net gain of 10 or more members, as against 51 last year.

59 Churches made a net gain of less than 10 members, as against 78 last year.

16 Churches made additions counterbalanced by losses, against 13 last year.

78 Churches made additions but sustained greater losses against 73 last year.

19 Churches made no additions, sustained no losses, against 19 last year.

53 Churches made no additions, but sustained losses against 41 last year.

Look at the figures from a little different angle:

106 Churches received from 1 to 10 members on confession.

46 Churches received from 11 to 25 members on confession.

22 Churches received from 26 to 50 members on confession.

7 Churches received over 50 members on confession.

The seven Churches receiving over fifty on confession, are: Tompkins Avenue, Brooklyn, 121; Central, Brooklyn, 102; Bushwick Avenue, Brooklyn, 98; North, N. Y. C., 89; United People's, Schenectady, 75; Flatbush, Brooklyn, 72; South, Brooklyn, 59. The twenty-two receiving less than fifty and more than 25 on confession, are: Plymouth, Brooklyn, and First, Niagara Falls, each 44; Pine Island, 41, (this Church made a net increase in its membership of 100%). Its membership last year was 31, this year it is 62. The interesting story of the organizing of this Church was told in Secretary Shelton's report last year. It renders its second report this year). First, Jamestown and Little Valley, each 40; Corning, 35; White Plains and Watertown, each 32; Parkville, Brooklyn, Swedish Evang'l Pilgrim, Brooklyn, and Summer Hill, each 31; Broadway Tabernacle, N. Y. C., and First, Binghamton, each 30; Harlem, N. Y. C., First, Cortland, and Homer, each 29; Swedish Imma., N. Y. C., West Winfield and Kiantone, each 28 (the Kiantone Church made a 42 1-2% net increase, raising its membership from 54 to 77); Saint Mark's, Brooklyn, Rushville and Fulton, each 27. Other Churches not mentioned above, which make goodly showings in accessions by letter and on confession, are: First, Mt. Vernon, 55; Bethesda, Utica, 46; Borough Park, Brooklyn, and Pilgrim, Buffalo, each 44; Clinton Avenue, Brooklyn, and Pilgrim, Schenectady, each 43; Flushing, 42; Newburgh, 36; Puritan, Brooklyn, 34; Granville, 33; Brooklyn Hills, 32; Plymouth, Syracuse and Elmira, each 30; Claremont Park, N. Y. C., and North St., Middletown, each 29; Lewis Avenue, Brooklyn, 28; Park Slope, Brooklyn, and Irondequoit, each 27; Rensselaer, Poughkeepsie and Danforth, Syracuse, each 26; Trinity, N. Y. C., and Groton City, each 25. (The Groton City Church's growth is 71%, raising its membership from 60 to 85. This is a rural Church, some miles from the railroad and is yoked with First, Cortland). Undoubtedly there are other Churches which should be included in this roll of honor, which, because of environment, cannot roll up big totals, but which are doing splendid work. Witness the Churches at Saugerties and at Roscoe each adding 19 on confession, and the country Church at Danby, adding 18 on confession.

Contemplation of this good work brings rejoicing, but we should know of and sympathize with certain weak Churches which are battling against great odds. I quote a letter from a small negro Church in Brooklyn: "Mr. Edward E. Stewert, who has served our little Church for twenty-five years without compensation, retired one year ago from active service in our Church. Mr. Stewert still takes an interest in our work, helping us financially. We are a poor little colored Congregational Church struggling along in the Master's work. Mr. Stewert will represent us as a delegate at Watertown in the month of May." This is signed by Robert Thompson, clerk of the Canarsie Church, Brooklyn. A letter from Napoli, a country field with 21 members in Western New York, tells of the anxiety of this people; they cannot maintain preaching unaided, and do not know where to turn for help. They are six miles from our Congregational Church at Little Valley, and eight from Randolph. Though the Church is in need of repairs, money is in hand for that purpose. The great need is for a leader. That we owe a great debt to these small country fields for the men and women sent out from them into the work of the world is something of which we are reminded by a letter from another Church, Gainesville, also in Western New York. A sentence reads: "Dr. Sheffield, missionary to Pekin, China, recently deceased, was born in our town, a fine man. Dr. David Starr Jordan, ex-President and Chancellor of Leland Stanford University, of California, was born in Gainesville, and was my close friend and classmate." How many of our country Churches of the State could tell a thrilling story of the same nature?

The angel of death has stricken from our roll of Congregational ministers seven names since we last met in annual convocation; particularly do we of the North Country miss from this body here to-day, the Nestor of the BlackRiver and St. Lawrence Association, the Rev. Duncan MacGregor, for twenty-four years pastor at Antwerp. He preached up to the very last Sunday before being brought to the hospital in this city, last September, when after a severe operation he lived but two Sundays before he was called home. A very few days after our last annual meeting, a young man, Rev. Oliver J. Van Wagnen, who had already served in Central New York, and was completing his education at Hartford Seminary, a man of great promise, closed his earthly career. That very week an aged minister, retired and living in Ithaca, the Rev. William J. Knox, was also called away. In August there were two deaths, a young man, secretary of the New York City Y. M. C. A., virile and forceful, Rev. O. F. Travis, and an aged minister, Rev. Rufus P. Hibbard, whose last pastorate was at Sayville. Two other have been called during the year, Rev. John W. Roberts, pastor of King's Highway, Brooklyn, and Rev. D. Johnson Williams, pastor of the Welsh Church, N. Y. C.

PLAN OF WORK FOR THE YEAR SUBMITTED BY THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE, ADOPTED AT ANNUAL MEETING, MAY 21, 1914.

The year which has just closed marks the thirty-first of the WOMAN'S HOME MISSIONARY UNION, and is perhaps the most momentous in our history. We record with deep sorrow, the death of our beloved President, Mrs. William Kincaid, on October 5, 1913. Our Union has been distinguished by the splendid leadership of this courageous, able and devoted President, and although we are bereaved of her personal ministry, yet we rejoice in the blessing of God, who has crowned the work of the year with success.

There have been twenty-two new Auxiliaries added to our ranks this year.

Our Treasurer has received $24,442.97—$1,942 more than our aim. In many of our Auxiliaries a definite advance has been planned and the reaching of the desired goal has favorably influenced the receipts for the year. The patient persistence which has marked the method of Systematic Benevolence in the Churches and the Every Member Canvass worked together for good results in all our Missionary treasuries. It is in the hearts of the women of our Union to establish some permanent Memorial to the memory of Mrs. Kincaid. Our Memorial Committee recommends that a Martha Chapman Kincaid Memorial Fund be raised and placed at interest, in charge of three trustees. It is hoped to raise $10,000 in a period of four years, designated for a suitable and worthy object. Gifts in memory of Mrs. Kincaid for any department of our missionary work may be received at any time. $600 has already been given towards this Memorial Fund, $500 of it being specially designated. In view of the interest in this Fund, and the portion of it to be raised next year, which is above our usual appropriation, we recommend as the aim for next year $22,500, divided as follows:

Congregational Home Missionary Society	$ 2,600
State Home Missionary Society	3,400
Congregational Church Building Society	2,000
American Missionary Association	3,500
Congregational Education Society	1,400
Congregational Sunday School & Publishing Society	400
National Council Ministerial Relief Fund	400
General Fund to meet above pledges and specials	2,300
Traveling expenses in State Canvass	200
Printing and Mailing Annual Report	300
Postage, Printing, etc.	500
New York & Brooklyn Church Extension Society	500

Congregational Home for the Aged	5,000
	$22,500
Memorial Fund	2,500
	$25,000

NOTE:—The above pledges, New York and Brooklyn Church Extension Society, $500, and Congregational Home for the Aged, $5,000, are provided for by our Societies in the New York City Association, and do not count on Church Apportionment.

Under the CONGREGATIONAL HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY, Rev. J. M. Moya and Rev. Paul Leeds, both doing good work, are continued. Mr. Moya is touring more than usual, and it is recommended that his salary be made $800, to include expenses of touring.

The situation in Mexico, and the opposition in local affairs, is having its effect on our work in New Mexico, but the patience and earnestness of our workers in the field is satisfactorily bringing the light of knowledge of God to these people.

Miss Hodek is continuing her work at McKeesport, Pa. The Schauffler Memorial Training School is retained on the list of C. H. M. S., with contributions to this school on apportionment up to $2,500 annually. Central Association has completed its $1,000 scholarship to the school this year. Our pupil is progressing in all things favorably, and we hope her future service will be a valued contribution to the work among the foreigners in this country.

Under the STATE HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY a larger amount is suggested.

The Italian Work is being readjusted, with a larger Committee in charge. The $1,500 contributed last year by the Woman's Home Missionary Union for the salary of the pastor it has been thought wise to appropriate differently, according to the needs of the work. An increase of $300 for other equipment is needed. Through the present Committee this $300 is asked from the W. H. M. U., making a total of $1,800 for this particular work.

The $1,100, which in last year's report is assigned for up-State work, is still necessary for that use. If it is possible it is the desire of the W. H. M. U., in co-operation with the State Home Missionary Society, to put a rural worker in the Adirondack field for six months, and to designate part of this money for such worker's salary, that more definite results may be accomplished. It is also recommended that an additional appropriation of $500 be applied to this Adirondack work.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH BUILDING SOCIETY

Our contributions to C. C. B. Society have somewhat increased. The Church at Julesburg, Colorado, and parsonage at Pueblo, Colorado, are completed.

We are asked this year for $1,000 toward the Church at Isabel, So. Dakota. This is in the heart of a new country recently thrown open to settlement by the Federal Government, having been a part of an Indian Reservation. It is a terminus of a branch of the Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway. There are 200 people in the village and 500 within three miles, engaged in agriculture and stock raising and in general merchandise. These homesteaders have had four years of drouth, without crops, and with great hardships, but they have remained steadfast and think that now is the time for the Church Building Society to help them build a house of worship at a cost of $2,500, on a lot which cost $500, and they hope to have the building completed by the first of June, 1914.

Our parsonage at Esmond: The Church is 12 years old and has 30 members in the midst of a village of 450 people, with as many more within three miles. The village is about equally divided between Scandinavian and native Americans. Ours is the only English speaking Protestant Church in the community. There is an average attendance at Church of 100, with a membership in the Sunday School of 80. We helped to build the house of worship in 1902, with a grant of $500, on a total cost of about $1,800. The Church is on a good business basis and has aroused a strong interest in the securing of a home for the minister. They have a house in view which cost about $1,700, and if we can make a parsonage loan of $700, the people will undertake to raise the balance needed and secure this good parsonage property. This is a good farming district, almost in the center of North Dakota, and this new parsonage will greatly add to the permanency of the pastorate, and to the strength and efficiency of the Church.

Our workers in the AMERICAN MISSIONARY ASSOCIATION remain the same. Miss Phillips, at Marion, Alabama, whose salary we pledge, is finding increased opportunities for service, and is meeting them in a most satisfactory way. The salary of a teacher at Normal Institute, Grand View, Tenn., is also our pledge, and Miss Dorothea Kjelland is our helper there.

Miss Gibson and Miss Nichols remain at San Mateo. They have had a very hard year, but do not speak of it in their letters, only mentioning the success which they are meeting in getting closer to the people.

This is a good opportunity to urge upon our Auxiliaries fidelity to the Plan of Work, especially in regard to apportionment. It would seem wise to emphasize the Study Classes, and to provide for their organization among our Auxiliaries. Perhaps this might be done by regular Home Missions Institutes in different cities of the State, either in connection with the Home Missions Week, or some appropriate opportunity.

The Day of Prayer should also be more generally observed, and included in the plans of Auxiliaries or groups of Auxiliaries. A more systematic way of providing expenses should be urged on all our Auxiliaries, that the Treasurer may be provided with the means for meeting the necessary expenses of doing effective work in the Union. The year has been full of work, and its results show increase of interest and loyalty to the work.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON SYSTEMATIC BENEVOLENCE

REV. LEWIS T. REED, Chairman.

The Committee on Systematic Benevolence begs leave to submit its sixth annual report. We make our written report much shorter this year, in view of the fact that we have with us Rev. C. C. Merrill, the secretary of the formerly existing Apportionment Commission, who will occupy most of the time in addressing you on the every-member canvass.

Your committee finds it somewhat difficult to summarize the results of the year, owing to several inaccuracies, which occur in the figures of the Year Book for the year 1913. With what corrections your committee has been able to make, the results seem to be as follows:

The total contributions from living donors (Churches and individuals) in New York state, to our eight societies for the year 1913, amount to $79,863, a gain of $281 over the year 1912. While your committee, after some years' experience with Year Books and reports from societies, quotes these figures with great reserve, we nevertheless are of the opinion that the state of New York, during a year of great financial depression, has just about held its own. Reviewing the last four years, it is evident that the contributions from Churches and individuals in the state of New York, year by year, remain almost constant, with a very slight increase. Four years ago our contributions were reported as $76,405; this year, $79,863.

The following associations record gains over their gifts of last year: O., C. & D., $371; Black River and St. Lawrence, $136; Essex, $110; Suffolk, $532; Susquehanna, $50; Central, $1,254. Unfortunately, the losses of the following associations almost offset that gain: Western New York, $221; Welsh, $25; Hudson River, $765; New York City, $1,161.

The following tables show interesting facts in reference to the associations:

Assn.	1913 Amount app'd by State Com.	1913 Cont. to 8 Soc. 1913	Per-centage	Gain or Loss	Gifts per Mem.	No. of Churches Giving: To all 8 Soc.	More than in 1912	Less than in 1912
O., C. & D.	$8,700	$6,224	72 pc	G-$371	$1.41	15	17	12
Blk. Riv. & St. L.	3,400	1,897	51 pc	G- 136	.61	3	15	10
Essex	850	347	40 pc	G- 110	.57		5	2
Western N. Y.	14,800	10,476	71 pc	L- 221	1.35	18	27	27
Welsh	750	217	29 pc	L- 25	.16		5	3
Suffolk	3,700	3,043	82 pc	G- 532	1.67	7	8	4
Susquehanna	5,500	2,969	54 pc	G- 50	1.12	4	12	6
Central	8,200	6,877	84 pc	G-1254	1.02	13	21	11
Hudson River	7,100	4,397	62 pc	L- 765	1,04	9	9	12
New York City	78,000	43,416	56 pc	L-1161	1.69	21	31	28
Total	$131,000	$79,863	61 pc	G-$281	$1.35	90	150	115

In the proportion of their apportionment raised, the associations stand as follows:

Central .....84 per cent.
Suffolk .....82 per cent.
O., C. & D. .....72 per cent.
Western New York .....71 per cent.
Hudson River .....62 per cent.
New York City .....56 per cent.
Susquehanna .....54 per cent.
Black River & St. Lawrence .....51 per cent.
Essex .....40 per cent.
Welsh .....29 per cent.

In the total amount of money raised, the associations range as follows:

New York City $43,416
Western New York 10,476
Central 6,877
O., C. & D. 6,224
Hudson River 4,397
Suffolk 3,043
Susquehanna 2,969
Black River & St. Lawrence 1,897
Essex 347
Welsh 217

There is a conspicuous gain in the number of Churches that gave more this last year than they did in 1912; namely, 150 Churches in comparison with 112 Churches reported a year ago.

The contributions made to the eight societies show gains and losses as follows:

A. B. C. F. M.	Loss—	$ 471
W. B. M.	Loss—	248
Home Missionary Societies (C. H. M. S.) (N. Y. H. M. S.)	Gain—	3,996
A. M. A.	Loss—	1,350
C. C. B. S.	Loss—	731
C. Ed. Society	Loss—	216
C. S. S. & P. S.	Loss—	60
Ministerial Relief	Loss—	633

Your committee desires especially to offer its congratulations and its gratitude to the Essex Association for the progress that has been made. There has been an increase in the Essex Association of 13% in gifts. The heavy loss in the New York City Association is due to large decreases in the gifts of a few of the larger Churches, which the gain in a large number of smaller Churches was not able to overcome.

Your committee remains convinced of the value of systematic benevolence. The records of all of our associations for the last five years shows that the apportionment plan has tended to steady the contributions. We may also hope that if business improves the contributions will continue to increase. The every-member canvass, if undertaken systematically and carried out in a Christian spirit, is the greatest possible help in the work of missions. Your committee again lays it upon the associations to conceive of the task of the Christian Church as a great missionary enterprise. It becomes a scandal when some of the Churches in our large cities do not contribute an average of even twenty-five cents a member to the missionary work of our denomination. It is an evidence of the fact that the minister and people have not taken seriously their great task of extending the Kingdom of Christ. This whole matter of benevolence is inextricably bound up with the question of the reality and sincerity of the Christian life. Those who love Christ and pray for His appearing and the rulership of His Spirit on earth, will not be content to allow year after year to pass in their Churches without organizing a definite attack on the forces of evil through the agency of the missionary societies. The missionary gift is the concrete expression of the religious life.

Your committee recommends the continuance of a Committee on Systematic Benevolence, organized as at the present time, and requests an appropriation of the usual amount; namely $25.00, for the carrying on of the work of the committee.

Respectfully submitted,

LEWIS T. REED, Chairman.

NEW YORK HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY

President, REV. LEWIS T. REED, Brooklyn

Vice-President, REV. A. M. WIGHT, Ogdensburg

Secretary and Treasurer REV. CHAS. W. SHELTON, D. D.

The forty-second annual business meeting of the New York Home Missionary Society was held in Emmanuel Church, Watertown, N. Y., on Thursday morning, May 21, 1914, at nine o'clock. The meeting was called to order by the Vice-President, Mr. Reed.

After prayer by the presiding officer the minutes of the last annual business meeting were read and approved.

The annual report of the treasurer was presented, discussed, accepted and adopted.

The nominating committee reported for Trustees for three years, Rev. W. H. Kephart, D. D., of New York; Rev. Lewis T. Reed, of Brooklyn; Mr. M. E. Preisch, of Buffalo, and Mr. A. Gardiner Cooper, of New York, to succeed themselves. To take the place of Rev. Nehemiah Boynton, D. D., retiring from the Board, Rev. R. W. McLaughlin, D. D., of Brooklyn, and to take the place of Mr. William B. Howland, resigning from the Board, Mr. Clarence Eckhardt, of New York.

Upon motion, the report of the Nominating Committee was accepted and the persons nominated declared elected.

NOTE: On May 28, the Board of Trustees met in the office of the Society, 287 Fourth Avenue, New York, and organized by the election of Rev. Lewis T. Reed, of Brooklyn, as President; Rev. A. M. Wight, of Ogdensburg, as Vice-President; Rev. Chas. W. Shelton, D. D., of New York, as Secretary and Treasurer, and Mr. W. W. Stewart, as Auditor.

Signed. CHAS. W. SHELTON.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

A FORMER representative of this Society was wont to begin his addresses as follows: "My field extends from the Alleghenies Mountains to the forests of Canada and from the Atlantic Ocean far westward to the Great Lakes, or in other words, the State of New York."

Within this field there are residing at the present time one-tenth of the entire population of the United States. Into this field, either for temporary or permanent residence, came last year from foreign lands one new person every thirty seconds of every hour of the entire year. The manufacturing product of this field is greater than the entire manufacturing output of the United States at the close of the Civil War, and its agricultural product second in the United States. In wealth it has probably the richest 10,000,000 of people on the face of the globe. In commercial supremacy it has no rival. Financially it can dictate the policy of any nation of the world.

To minister to the 10,000,000 of people of New York State, Congregationalism, at the present time, has 301 churches, with a total membership of 58,000. Of this entire number 25,660 are in the Metropolitan district and 32,340 are in the up-State field. Seventy of these churches are now receiving aid from the Home Missionary Society, these aided churches having a membership of 4,350, an increase of 566 over last year. During the year three new churches have been organized, all of them within the Metropolitan field. Two of these are English speaking and one a Finnish church.

To assist this Society in meeting the denominational obligation and to take care of those responsibilities which are most especially ours, the churches contributed through the state treasury last year $11,967.07. through the National Society (90% of undesignated gifts,) $6.123.92, and from the Woman's Union ($1,500 of which was designated for the Italian work), $2,845.91, a total for work within the state of $20,936. As compared with last year this was a decrease to the state treasury from churches and individuals of $37. It was an increase from the National Society to the state treasury of $386, and an increase from the Woman's Union to the state treasury of $1,401, making the total increase from all sources to the state treasury for the year, $1,750.

The National Society received in contributions from the state $7,413.67; from legacies, $5,403.09; from the State Society (10% of undesignated receipts) $790.08, from the Woman's Home Missionary Union, $2,377.77, making a total of $15,984.61. Of this amount the National Society paid over to the State Society $6,-123.92, leaving $9,860.69 of the home missionary contributions from the state, all of which has gone for work outside the state.

If Congregationalism is to be maintained in the Empire State in face of its loss (in common with all Protestant denominations) through the passing of the down-town church in our large cities, and the rural church, because of insufficient assistance from the stronger churches, it must arouse at once to its responsibility and enter upon a program of enlargement and advancement in kind and power beyond anything that it has undertaken in recent years.

The two great lessons which the history of this Society through the last year would teach us are, first, that Empire State Congregationalism has come to the parting of the ways. With the steady loss of income which we have been meeting and must meet in the passing of the down-town city church, in the larger demands that are made upon our younger churches for their own maintenance, in the increased yearly home expenditure, the work of maintaining our dependent churches, of developing new church life will have to be financed upon a much broader and larger basis, or we must be content to see the steady dwindling of our power within the state.

Second, the adaptability of Congregationalism to the varied religious life of our state.

We have been accustomed to say and to believe that the Congregational church could, with its polity, go into the complexity of religious faiths in our cities and suburbs and unify and co-ordinate them, but the last year has demonstrated with ever increasing emphasis that the solution of the over-churched rural district is a union community church, so liberal in its polity as to include within its voting membership all who regularly attend and support its life, and so broad in its faith as to welcome all those who sincerely love and conscientiously try to live and perpetuate the life of Jesus Christ. One of our young city churches has just reported that of the last twenty-three additions by letter one alone came from a Congregational church. This is only one of many similar reports.

It has been the repeated experience not only in New York State, but in all of our eastern states during the last few years that denominational lines in the rural districts are so thoroughly broken down that the demand now is practically unanimous for a Union church, and when such a church has been organized on the most thoroughly union basis, to find that it is a Congregational church pure and simple.

Again the history of our home missionary and denominational work, since its re-organization eleven years ago, has emphasized the need of a definite program, formulated by this Society and adopted by our churches, this program to include the proposed work of the denomination not for a single year, or even a term of years, but one which shall reach on far into the life and service of those who are to come after us.

The questions which this program should carefully outline are:

First, what proportion of the total receipts from the state should be used within the state, and what proportion—looking at the work of Christianizing the country in its largest and broadest aspect—should go through the National Society into the work of other states?

Second, what proportion of the money expended within the state should go to the Metropolitan field, and what proportion should be expended in the state at large?

Third, after a careful study of the foreign and native life of the state, what definite division of the income should be made between our English speaking and our foreign speaking churches?

Fourth, the rural church, what shall we do with it and what shall we do for it?

Fifth, what policy shall we adopt for advancing denominational work in our state cities?

Sixth, how shall we secure an assured income sufficient to carry out this program?

Some such plan is eminently necessary as a working basis at the present time.

With regard to the first question, a careful comparison of the previous history of our disbursements and also of the comparative size and appeal of our various fields should be made.

As most of our churches will remember, the National Home Missionary Society was completely reorganized seven years ago. Previous to that time distribution of our income from the state was made by a committee representing both the State and National work, taking into careful consideration the need within the state and without, and then of the total receipts from all sources guaranteeing to the state a certain amount. If this amount was not received by the state treasury, it was supplied by the national treasury out of its receipts from the state. If more than this amount was received by the state treasury, it was to be paid over by the state to the national treasury. This latter condition, however, never occurred. As a result of this arrangement, during the last four years of the old administration, out of the total receipts from the state to the national treasury of $87,000 from legacies and contributions, the National Society, recognizing the importance and the magnitude of our state work, turned back into our state treasury $80,780. With the coming in of the new administration and with the increased emphasis placed by the administration upon the work in the western states and territories, a new plan was adopted by which the State Society was excluded from all share in legacies received by the National Society from the state. As a result, during the last four years of the new administration, out of the total receipts of $107,000 from the state, the National Society paid back to the state only $21,000. This is a decrease in receipts by the state from the National Society during the last four years of this administration, as compared with the last four years of the old, of $59,580. This required a reduction in our grants to the missionaries of from $9,000 to $13,000 a year; that is more than 50%.

But this part of our program requires not only a comparison of receipts, but also a comparison of fields. In eight of our western states and territories, with a population of one million less than the City of New York, the denomination last year through the National Society spent $100,000 in missionary grants. In New York City, with a million more people, with a vastly larger percentage unchurched and needing our assistance, the denomination spent through the State Society $7,000! The entire field of the National Society west of the Mississippi River with the exception of Texas and California has a population 800,000 less than the state of New York. Last year the denomination through the National Society spent on this field $137,906 in missionary grants and then asked our state to do our work for 1,000,000 more people on $13,000. Our program should insist upon an expenditure by the state and for the state of not less than 50% of the total receipts for home missionary work contributed by the state without regard to which treasury the money is sent. We are accustomed to say that the National Society pays over to us 90% of its receipts from the state. For the last four years, however, it has been 90% of its undesignated receipts, but only about 20% of its total receipts.

Second, our program should determine what proportion of our available funds should be spent in our Metropolitan field and what proportion in our state field. About one-half of our population and nearly one-half of our membership is within our Metropolitan field, and one-half of our support comes from this field. Our Metropolitan churches contribute .44 per capita; the state field .29½ Based upon church membership, contributions, and on conditions to be met, one-half of our income should be spent in the Metropolitan field.

Third, in considering the place and expenditure which the work among people of foreign birth should take in our program it is necessary that we should have the long vision, the vision that can see the things that are invisible while working with the conditions and things that are visible. There is some times a restiveness in our churches because certain expenditures in foreign work do not produce the spectacular or startling returns that we can obtain by the same expenditure in other fields. Our foreign fields differ in this respect more widely than do our native fields. For instance our work among the Scandinavians, the Welsh and to a certain extent the Germans, is productive almost immediately of results and eventually shows large returns.

On the other hand the work among the Southern European classes and among the Jewish people must of necessity, before any marked results are secured, be a work of sacrifice, of patience, and of unlimited faith. We must remember that in bringing Protestantism to the Latin races we are trying to do what the Reformation utterly failed to do. In the case of Northern Europeans we are dealing with people who have mingled with and to a large extent, have been a Protestant people. With the Southern Europeans we are meeting a condition where generations of tradition and history and sentiment have got to be revised. The question naturally arises, if under these conditions it is either necessary or expedient that we should attempt to convert them to Protestantism. For answer we would reply, possibly not, if these people were loyal to their church and its ministrations, but in almost all these cases the new life in America, as its first fixed result, has produced the breaking of the religious bonds which have held these people and their ancestors for generations.

For example we have 1,400,000 Jews within our city limits, one-fifteenth of the entire Jewish population of the world. Dr. Laidlaw reports that 1,000,000 of these people never enter a synagogue for the purpose of worship, unless it be on their great feast days, and that 800,000 of this million have practically abandoned the faith of their fathers. But the significant fact is that while abandoning their synagogues and its teaching they have not lost one iota of their bitter prejudice. Dr. Zeckhausen, after twenty-one years of work under the best advantages in five different fields in New York is able to report only eighteen conversions to Protestantism. For the present generation Christianity seems to be as powerless as does the synagogue, but what of the future generation? Have we the courage, the long vision, and the faith to put into this problem the money and the life and the sacrifice which can bring its return only one or two generations hence?

In the case of the Italian we confront a similar situation. Literally hundreds of thousands of them have broken completely with the Roman Catholic church. Are they to be left to drift into socialism and infidelity, or will the Protestant church have the power and courage to reclaim to religious life and church connection this great mass of people who have come to our shores?

Not in the same degree, but in a most striking way we are confronting the same problem with our Scandinavian people. A great wave of reformation unnoticed and unappreciated by our churches is now sweeping over our American Scandinavians. The old formal state Lutheran church is rapidly losing its grip upon them in their new American life. We must answer the question "what is to be their moral and religious development through the next generation?"

Two Finnish laymen, recently in the office of the Secretary, after they had made an earnest appeal for an increase in their grant, and he had replied that in our present financial condition no additional grant could be made, said "Do you realize that our American born Finns will not remain under the arbitrary dictation of the Lutheran church? Neither will they go into any church that has a bishop or an outside power of control. Either the Congregational church must open to us their doors, or we shall go through the ever open door of the socialist." This statement of theirs was emphasized anew to the Secretary when on a recent Sunday evening in "Finntown" Brooklyn, the young men and women were constantly calling back and forth across the street, "Where are you going to-night?" the answer being in every case, "Over to the dance in the socialist hall."

It is found that our foreign born population are 150% more criminal than the native born of native parentage, while the native born of foreign parentage are twice as criminal as their parents, that is, three times as criminal, as the native born of native stock.

It is ours as much to reconstruct, renew and develop the moral and religious life of our foreign born people as it is to develop their educational, civic and political life. Indeed the latter is of very little value without the former. If they have abandoned the faith of their fathers it is our duty as brethren, as well as Americans, to lead them by a new pathway into the Protestant faith. We cannot without the gravest apprehension view the falling away of hundreds of thousands of these people from their churches, and their religious life unless we can provide for them a better.

Fourth, in any adjustment in our state work a definite program with regard to our expenditure in rural fields is of vital importance. With the ever present problems of the immigrant and the city before us we are apt to overlook the no less vitally important problem of maintaining the religious life in our rural communities. With our cities showing an average of from forty to fifty per cent. of foreign born population we must not forget that the one source which we can draw upon to maintain our pure American life and to perpetuate our history is the rural church. Lose that and we cut off the very sources of our inspiration, our denominational strength and our American patriotism. No one can view without serious apprehension the falling off in church attendance and the closing of houses of worship in our rural fields. Because we do not see as clearly all that is taking place in other denominations, we often gain the impression that we are exceptional in this respect. This is not correct, for rural losses in other denominations have been proportionately as great as or greater than ours. The communities in which we are now called to minister are, first, those in which all religious services have been abandoned for years (and as is always the case, we find a moral, intellectual and a religious depravity which is appalling), second, the rural community in which the churches have been closed for from five to eight years. Leave these last communities for another five or eight years without religious service and you will have developed there a section of pure American blood that has grown up as devoid of church influence, the sanctity of the Sabbath, and a religious consciousness as are those of the first class.

Our Secretary reports 29 churches in the state vacant. The larger part of these are in our rural communities, and they are vacant because your Society cannot give the absolutely necessary assistance that would enable a minister to have even a day laborer's wage.

Of the forty-five missionaries at work in the state field, twelve are in the cities and ten are in large villages and twenty-three are in what we would call rural fields. Nineteen of these are purely missionary fields, that is, fields in which there are no present indications of a development that will make them self-supporting for some years. Of the $8,300 of missionary grants in the state field $3,100 was in what we should designate as rural fields, and your trustees believe that at least one-third of our up-State expenditure should be in this class of churches.

Fifth, five-sevenths of our state's population reside in cities. Outside our Metropolitan field we have fourteen cities in each of which the inhabitants exceed 30,000, with a total population of 1,500,000. Within these cities are located twenty-six Congregational churches, ten of which and an unorganized mission are now receiving aid from the Society. Four of these aided churches are among our foreign speaking people. Only one new English speaking church of importance has been organized in our up-State cities during recent years. Of late the policy of the Society as related to this part of our work has been one of "watchful waiting" until we could determine the method and secure the means to inaugurate new work. A careful study by representatives of the Society reaching over several years now enables us to formulate a definite policy with regard to this part of our program. In common with our Metropolitan field little can be done toward the establishing of new churches in the older, settled parts of these cities. In all cases the moving out of the residential population has left these districts over-churched and all facing the complicated problem of the down-town city church. Colonization, federation or extermination must be the solution of many of these organizations. For us to attempt under these conditions to establish new churches would be poor judgment; even worse, it would be a waste of funds and most serious breach of interdenominational comity. During the last ten years these cities have increased their population 285,000. A large part of this increase has been in the suburbs and here is our opportunity and our responsibility. It is our opportunity to re-establish Congregationalism where it was sacrificed and lost fifty years ago under the plan of union; it is our obligation, because as already stated, it has been repeatedly demonstrated that in these suburbs, even more than in our country districts we are qualified by our faith, our fellowship and our polity to be the common center to which can be attracted and within which can be developed the religious life of the community. But it is of the greatest importance that we realize that what we do in these fields we must do quickly, or the ground will be pre-empted by others and we shut out again for another fifty years. Three new fields of this kind in three of our up-State cities are now open and waiting for us to occupy. Our program should provide for an annual expenditure of not less than $5,000 for this part of our work.

Sixth, in financing this plan it should be remembered that our apportionment for state work is $27,000 and our normal income from all sources is about $17,000. Even on the basis of receiving our full apportionment the amount is absurdly inadequate to the demand. Massachusetts, with a total population only two-thirds that of New York City, spent last year $64,000 on her state work, and was restive because the amount was so small. Our present entire apportionment should be our minimum expenditure. Our program should ultimately call for at least $50,000. The state gave last year for foreign missions $85,000. The apostle reminds us that if any provide not for his own, especially for those of his own house, he hath denied the faith and is worse than an infidel. "Not less for foreign, but more for home work" should be our slogan. Your Board would reiterate their conviction that until the present crisis is past our state work must take first place in our prayers, our sacrifice and our service.

The first practical method in accomplishing this result is the apportionment plan secured through the Every Member canvass and through weekly offerings. Our program should accept the present apportionment as a wise, but temporary standard. Our ultimate aim and end must be far higher and larger. It is of the greatest importance that in working out this plan the church should not neglect the inspirational or educational factors. Under the old system of an annual contribution these were provided for in the presentation of the work by the pastor or the Society's representative. The present system makes no provision for special presentation. Your Board would respectfully urge that each pastor should furnish to his congregation a specific and detailed report of the state work of the year. They would further urge that church treasurers make a quarterly or semi-annual distribution of funds received. How many of our pastors or church members would be satisfied with an annual payment of their salaries? Why force your Society to adopt this method with your ministers, or as an alternative, incur the expense of borrowing money at a high rate of interest?

Many will feel that your Trustees have placed these estimates for all parts of our program far too low, but they have tried to present a practical working plan, rather than a visionary and impossible program, a plan that will enthuse and inspire, not one that will discourage and oppress. To carry out this program calls at once for

First, seven new English and three foreign speaking churches for our Metropolitan field.

Second, the re-opening of six of our closed rural churches and the increase in the salaries of ten of our rural pastors at an expenditure of $3,000 a year.

Third, for our up-State city work $5,000 at least and for the up-State foreign work $1,500.

This would make a total increase in our annual budget of $14,500.

If it is objected that this program exceeds our apportionment it will only reiterate the unanimous opinion of your Trustees and a large part of our ministers that we must change our percentage, as many of our states have already done, giving our state for its own work at least forty per cent. of our denominational benevolences. But before your Trustees would make this recommendation of change, they would most seriously urge upon our churches that this year we AT LEAST MEET OUR FULL APPORTIONMENT FOR OUR STATE HOME MISSIONARY WORK.

Probably the most important event of the year has been an agreement between the National and State Societies regarding the division of receipts from the state. It has been generally admitted for several years that the state did not receive its fair share of the total income for home missionary work. By a unanimous action of both Societies a new arrangement has been adopted. If the state treasury shall receive from churches and individuals $12,000, the national treasury will add $8,000. If the state treasury will secure $2,000 additional, the national treasury will add $3,000, making a total of $25,000 for state work. Legacies, contributions to or through the Woman's Home Missionary Union are not included in this arrangement. Can we not this year contribute to the state treasury $14,000? To do this will require an average contribution of fifty cents per church member, and this is an increase of about 24 per cent over last year. Should this be accomplished we can again return to our expenditure of ten years ago, but what is far more important, we can provide a living salary for many of our brother pastors; we can re-open our closed country churches; meet many of the demands for new work and give a new meaning and new position to Empire State Congregationalism.

But we must not omit from our program our sense of responsibility for the evangelization of our entire country while unable, because of the heavy responsibility placed upon us in our own state, to do much. Last year we expressed our fellowship and as far as possible our cooperation with the National Society by contributing from our treasury $790.08, to which we unitedly added our prayers and our sympathy. In addition we contributed directly to the National treasury $7,413.67 in contributions and $5,403.09 in legacies.

Only once has the Messenger of Translation and Change visited our missionary force. During the year the Rev. J. W. Roberts, Ph. D., pastor of our church at Kings Highway, was suddenly called from the activities and service of earth to the larger service prepared for him in the Eternal Kingdom. Dr. Roberts came to us from Elmira and began his work of the ministry in our Longwood Avenue Church in the Bronx, moving from there to the newly established church at Kings Highway, Brooklyn. During all his life in our Metropolitan field he endeared himself to his brother ministers and was an inspiration to all who knew him.

REPORT BY ASSOCIATIONS

The distribution to mission fields, receipts, disbursements, etc., by Associations, is as follows:

Associations	Churches Aided	Receipts	Appor't	Expend.	Per Cap.
Metropolitan	23	$10,596.09	$16,380.00	$7,293.00	.41
Western	14	3,130.93	3,108.00	1,915.00	.40
Oneida, Chenango and Delaware	8	2,287.54	1,827.00	586.00	.50
Central	9	1,928.11	1,722.00	1,927.00	.29

Black River and St. Lawrence	3	545.68	714.00	159.00	.18
Suffolk	1	867.37	777.00	137.50	.48
Essex	1	107.00	179.00	84.00	.17
Welsh	1	83.16	157.00	99.00	.07

Average per capita gift of state, .41.

The above does not include:

First, $35,000 raised and expended by our city churches upon their own mission chapels.

Second, $9,000 raised for Metropolitan Church Extension Work.

Adding these to the above, we have a total of $1.25 per capita contributed by our Congregational churches of New York for our local state and national home missionary work.

HUDSON RIVER ASSOCIATION. This Association includes within its membership the churches north of Westchester and south of Essex Counties, and from the state line to the eastern boundary of the Oneida, Chenango and Delaware Association. It covers practically the valley and the watersheds of the Hudson River. It represents 21 churches with a membership of 4,292, a loss of five during the year. Two of these churches are now pastorless, five received home missionary aid this last year. These are practically the same churches to which we have given aid for the last five years. At least two new fields should be occupied at once within this Association, both of which offer us an opportunity in a short time to develop strong, self-supporting churches.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION. This is our Adirondack field. When we reported this Association last year it was stated that there were nine churches but only one ministerial member. These churches have remained the same, and have a membership of 725, a loss of 116 during the year. The ministerial membership of the Association has been very much increased, and with the coming of new men into these churches and with their willingness to bring their ministerial standing to the Association, a new sense of fellowship and a new degree of strength has been engendered. Fifty years ago this was the most representative Congregational field in the state. We have sustained a loss of eight churches in this Association within recent years. Originally, these churches were composed of the very best of Vermont and New England Congregationalists. During this last year only one church in the Association has received aid. Two of these churches have been closed, or have been occupied by Holy Rollers during the year, because of our inability to give the aid necessary. Last year plans were made to employ a general missionary for this field, but the condition of our treasury made it impossible.

BLACK RIVER AND ST. LAWRENCE ASSOCIATION. This includes all our churches between the Adirondack Mountains and the St. Lawrence River, and reports 31 churches with a membership of 3,129. Three churches in this field have received aid this year. While several of these churches have been pastorless for portions of the year, no church has been closed for the entire year. Fourteen of the 31 churches pay salaries of $600 or less and several more less than $700. Fifteen churches within this Association should have sufficient aid from the Home Missionary Society to increase the salaries of their pastors until these salaries should at least equal those of ordinary laboring men.

CENTRAL ASSOCIATION. Of our Associations the Central is second both in size of its territory, the number of its churches, and in its church membership. It reports 35 churches with a membership of 6,605, a gain of 42 during the year. Four churches within this Association have held no public worship for over two years and three other churches have been pastorless a part or all of the year. One county within this Association reports a loss of 32 per cent. of its membership within recent years. It is within this Association that we are meeting some of our most serious losses in rural fields, and the coming year should witness a decided gain in this class of work, both by the Society and the churches of the Association that are most closely related to these isolated communities. As far as possible our stronger churches must take within their special care and fellowship these weaker ones, and in every such effort made to accomplish this work, this Society will cooperate to the full extent of its ability.

ONEIDA, CHENANGO AND DELAWARE ASSOCIATION. As its name implies, it includes those churches lying between the western slopes of the Catskills and the Susquehanna Valley on the south and the Central Association on the west, in other words, the counties from which it derives its name. It has within its bounds 31 churches, the same as last year, and a membership of 4,507. Of these 31 churches, 8 received aid from the Society, an increase of one over last year, and one church came to self-support, Clayville. This Association last year made the largest contribution per capita of any Association within the state and exceeded its apportionment by $400.

WESTERN ASSOCIATION. The largest in the state if measured by square miles and the second largest in the amount of its contributions. It includes within its membership what were formerly the Western New York Association, the Ontario Association and Conference, and the Genesee Association. It reports 61 churches in New York and one in Pennsylvania, with a total membership of 7,820, a loss of 107 during the year. Your Society has aided 14 churches within this Association during the last year, one less than the year previous, one church (North Evans) having come to self-support. As yet the Society has only been able in one instance to take up the work among the foreign speaking people of this Association, the grant made being to the Danish Church, Jamestown. Representatives of the First Church, Jamestown, have carried on for a number of years a very successful work among the Albanians of that city. The time has now come when both the Association and our Society must meet their obligation to those who have come into our midst from other lands. Work should be started immediately in three of these cities, for our Armenians, and the problem of the foreign population in Buffalo must have the careful attention and the united service of both the churches of Buffalo and this Society.

Last year your Trustees called attention to the need of an immediate, aggressive work in church planting in the cities of this Association. As in other parts of our state, the rural church and the rural work here must occupy an important place. At almost any cost of time and money we must re-awaken and re-emphasize the imperative need of maintaining the church, the Sabbath and the religious consciousness of our country districts.

SUSQUEHANNA ASSOCIATION. Representing, as it does, 18 of our churches in New York state and seven in Pennsylvania, with a membership of 2,637, a gain of 42 during the year, it includes within its bounds all the churches in the southern tier of counties between the Oneida, Chenango and Delaware and the Western Associations, and is largely in the valley and the immediate vicinity of the Susquehanna. The seven Pennsylvania churches, for geographical reasons, are much closer related to our New York churches than they are to those of their own state. Formerly several of these churches received aid from this Society. In the reorganization of our work it was felt by our Trustees not to be right to use money contributed for New York state work in the aid of Pennsylvania churches, therefore, while still holding their church and ministerial standing in the Susquehanna Association, they receive their aid from and are under the care of the Pennsylvania Society. Within this Association we have lost one of our stronger churches during the year, that at Owego having consolidated with the Presbyterians of that town. We granted aid last year to four churches and also to the special work being done by the First Church of Binghamton among the Armenians of that city. This work has been especially successful, twenty-six having united with the First Church. It is earnestly hoped that this Society will be able during the coming year to organize similar Armenian work in three of our Associations.

SUFFOLK ASSOCIATION. Includes all of our denominational work on Long Island east of Queens County. It has at the present time twelve churches and 1,811 members. This is the same number of churches and 48 less members than last year. Only one church applied for and received aid from the Society during the year. There is a rapidly increasing tendency on the part of certain nationalities living under the abnormal conditions of the Metropolis, to move out of the city and to buy for themselves small farms for the purpose of market gardening. Up to the present very little has been done by the Protestant Church to provide religious life for these people. The time is, however, near at hand when we and the Asociation must consider and meet our responsibility in this direction.

WELSH ASSOCIATION. It includes fourteen churches which originally used exclusively the Welsh language. They report a membership of 1,193, a loss of 32 within the year. Only one of these churches receives aid at the present time. Three of them are not reported in the Year Book, and one is in Vermont. Two others have been pastorless most of the year. Owing to the small Welsh emigration during recent years and also to the fact that the American born children of Welsh parentage do not speak the language, and all prefer the English service, these churches will eventually become English-speaking and join other of our Associations. The receipts from this Association last year were $83.16, representing a per capita gift of seven cents. Our expenditure within the Association was $99.

NEW YORK ASSOCIATION. Secretary Swartz in the annual report of the national Society makes the following statement:

> "It is concerning New York that we hear the most pessimism. New York is the great sieve into which is annually thrown a million of souls from Roman and Greek Catholic countries. Many a good prophet has asked to be excused from preaching in New York. Thus fortified for the worst, let us look. The population growth has been enormous (1,300,000, or 38 per cent.), that we already know, but behold the solid line of Congregationalism, mounting by its side, an exact mate for five years, and for the last five years of greatest growth, climbing ahead to 41 per cent. In spite of the millions of Jews and Greeks, we are more than holding our own, and we did not know it. The percentage of growth has been better than that of any other Eastern city."

This Association represents 67 churches, a gain of four during the year. They report a membership of 25,660, a gain of 471 members. Within this field this last year the Society has aided 23 churches, of which nine are foreign speaking and two negro. Our receipts from this Association for the year were $10,596, and our expenditure within the Association was $7,293. Eight of our fifteen Trustees come from this Association. Nearly one-half of our state's population and nearly one-half of our state Congregational membership are within this Association. Of our total grant, $1,900 was for new work. With the exception of the Camp Memorial church on the lower East Side, it is expected that all of these aided churches will come to self-support in the near future. Probably no other field of similar size upon our globe represents so great a concentration of human life, so many languages and nationalities. Because of this the work which the Society has to do is of the most varied character, requiring missionaries and pastors who have thorough Congregational training, and who are equipped for the very best social, intellectual and denominational life, and also men who in fact are foreign missionaries upon our home field.

The Society at the present time is preaching in five different languages within this Association. In our foreign work most urgent appeals have come to us to co-operate with Finns, Swedes, Greeks, Bulgarians and Jews, but because of our limited resources no one of these fields could be occupied.

In our English work we have an almost unlimited field. In Queens and Westchester Counties opportunities equal to anything which the experience of your Secretary has ever known are being constantly passed by, because of a lack of funds. Three churches should be immediately started in Westchester County and in large suburban communities in Queens. We have an offer of $12,000 for lots if we will start in one of the new developments, and in several others the most cordial and earnest co-operation by the residents has been assured.

The material out of which we are making American citizens is emphasized by the fact that in Public School No. 1 twenty-nine different nationalities are represented and its children come from four continents. Probably this condition cannot be reproduced in the world. When you realize that we are spending every year $33,000,000 for the intellectual development of the children of our city, the appeal of the child alone is one that can hardly be passed by.

We are facing in the Metropolitan field the same condition with regard to the establishing of churches in the older, settled parts of the city that we have confronted in other cities of the state. We believe that Congregationalism has never faced a greater opportunity not only for service in the Master's Kingdom, but for the extension of its own faith and communion than it now meets within the Greater New York and its suburbs.

List of Ministers

CONNECTED WITH THE LOCAL ASSOCIATIONS AS REPORTED BY THE REGISTRARS

This list should include the names of all ordained Congregational ministers serving any of our churches in this state.

The numeral refers to the Local Association in which membership is held.

Following this list is a list of ministers of other denominations supplying our churches, also a list of licentiates.
